

COMMITTEE HEADLINE BY KEY TO INVESTIGATE PLAN TO INSTITUTE INCOME TAX IN BOROUGHS

PROGRESSIVE BLOC IN BOTH HOUSES TO HOLD MEETING

Senators Sponsoring Conference Deny Efforts To Form Third Party; Will Talk Economics.

FIVE GOVERNORS GET INVITATIONS

Discussion Will Revolve Around Power, Unemployment Insurance and Anti-Injunction Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—A call for a non-partisan conference was issued today by five senators aligned with the independent faction of the two parties to be held here next week for the formulation of a "constructive legislative program."

Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, is chairman of the group sponsoring the meeting. The others are Senators La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Cutting, of New Mexico, republicans; Wheeler, of Montana, and Senator-elect Costigan, of Colorado, democrats.

The invitation which was sent to some members of congress, some governors and other leaders in political and economic life, declared that "in the midst of depression the nation is without effective political or economic leadership."

However, the call emphasized that "this conference is not called to form the basis for a new party."

Norris early this year declined to lead a third party movement.

With the independents holding the balance of power in both the senate and house in the congress, considerable interest, nevertheless, attached to the movement disclosed today.

Five subjects were listed for discussion. The senators said a round-table discussion rather than a mass meeting was contemplated.

The topics to be considered are: Unemployment and industrial stabilization. Public utilities. Agriculture. Tariffs. Return to representative government.

Just who has been invited was not disclosed by Senator La Follette, who is active in making the arrangements. It was said the conference would be open. It will be held on March 11 and 12.

It is understood at least five governors have been invited and have indicated a willingness to participate. They are: Roosevelt, of New York; Pinchot, of Pennsylvania; La Follette, of Wisconsin; Olson, of Minnesota, and Meier, of Oregon.

DETERMINED WAR ON CRIME OPENED

60 Officers To Form New Plainclothes "Bandit Squad."

Atlanta's most determined effort to stamp out banditry here and to land on bars was foreseen Monday afternoon in the issuance of an order by Chief of Police James E. Healey creating a new "bandit squad" of 60 officers, who are to patrol the streets in civilian clothes and start a general roundup of suspicious and undesirable men and women.

The new detail is to be composed of 30 members of the detective department and 30 plainclothes patrolmen, who will be under the direction of three officers, Lieutenants J. W. Williams, C. H. Mitchell and W. H. Andrews. The first two officers will forsake their uniforms for the time being to head the work, while Lieutenant Andrews, already of the detective department, will merely switch his duties to the street.

The "bandit detail" are to be placed on the streets at once, forsaking the usual automobile detail work. They are to circulate among downtown crowds and in residential districts, ever on the alert for "wanted men" and suspicious characters.

Aviatrix Found in Hospital, Victim of Mystery Injuries

MONTEREY, Cal., March 2.—(AP)—Miss Edna May Cooper, movie actress by profession and aviatrix by avocation, was located here today after she had been mysteriously missing for a week from Hollywood.

Miss Cooper was in the Monterey hospital, under guard, recovering from head and body injuries. How she sustained the injuries mystified physicians and police.

It was learned Miss Cooper had been registered at a local hotel several days under the name of Caroline Hope, of Los Angeles. She showed signs of illness yesterday and Dr. Hugh Dornody was called by hotel employees. He found she had an abrasion, "possibly a week old," on the back of her head and bruises and contusions on her body, especially on the right thigh.

How Miss Cooper got here was as much a mystery as was how she acquired the injuries. She had little to say but told authorities she thought she was in Santa Monica when she started for Santa Monica when she left Los Angeles.

Joseph Duckwood, Monterey taxicab driver, said he picked the young woman up while she was wandering aimlessly in Carmel, near-by art colony where she was the mistress of a local police officer, however, said Miss Cooper got off a Los Angeles-San Francisco train last Wednesday night and took a cab to the hotel from which she was removed to the hospital. She apparently was without funds when taken to the hospital.

MAN AND WOMAN QUIZZED IN PROBE OF KIKER SLAYING

Mrs. Helen Blevins and M. M. Turner Held; Alleged Blackmail Angle Being Probed.

With police holding a man and woman for questioning, sensational developments in the investigation of the slaying of H. C. Kiker, night watchman of the Wright Company, 479 Whitehall, were promised today by city detectives.

Although detectives would not talk about expected developments, it was learned that an alleged blackmail angle is being gone into with the idea of unearthing entirely new phases of the case.

Mrs. Helen Blevins, 28, of 548 Whitehall, and M. M. Turner, 28, of 684 Holderness, were arrested Monday by Detectives Lon Evans and E. W. Ginn for questioning. Detectives said that they do not believe Mrs. Blevins or Turner know anything about Kiker's death, but that they are being questioned along other angles of the case. Search is being conducted for two other women whom detectives desire to question, it was said.

Investigation entered on discovering where bullets which went striking Kiker's body struck after leaving the body.

Poe tests with Kiker's gun and the bullets recovered from his body indicated that the fatal bullets were fired from the night watchman's gun, which was found clutched in his hand in a position indicating that he had turned the weapon on himself. The suicide theory was discounted by the testimony of Dr. J. C. Blacklock, county physician, who told a coroner's jury that any one of three of the wounds would have produced instant death.

Dr. Blacklock said he did not believe any man could have shot himself five times in the places where Kiker was shot.

The night watchman was struck in the top of the head and four times in the chest and abdomen. The body was found lying on its side in the boiler room of the Wright company building early Friday morning. The time clock had been punched for the last time at 9:50 o'clock Thursday night. All doors and windows of the building were found locked, and so far as could be learned nothing was missing from Kiker's person or from the building.

General Jadwin Expires Suddenly

PANAMA CITY, March 2.—(AP)—Lieutenant General Edgar Jadwin, former state engineer of New York, died unexpectedly of a cerebral hemorrhage in Gorgas hospital at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

General Jadwin came here February 25 in connection with a meeting to determine whether a Nicaraguan canal should be built to relieve inter-oceanic commerce or whether the Panama canal should be fitted out with a new set of locks.

The body will be sent to the United States by the transport St. Mihiel tomorrow. The body of Major General George Leroy Irwin, who died recently, was also in Panama.

General Jadwin sailed February 18 for Panama to preside over a commission composed of S. B. Williamson, former division engineer of the Panama Canal; Dean Anson Marston, of the Iowa State College of Agriculture, and Ray G. Finch, former state engineer of New York. He had presided at several meetings since his arrival.

He was 65 years old, having been born August 7, 1865, at Honesdale, Pa. He was graduated from West Point in 1890 and immediately went into the engineering service of the United States.

He became a lieutenant general upon promotion in 1920. He was widely known all over the United States for his work in rivers and harbors matters.

Constitution Cooking School Gets Started This Morning

Featuring entertainment and a fashion revue along with instruction, the annual cooking and home-making school sponsored by The Atlanta Constitution will open this morning at the Fox theater. Daily sessions will be held through Friday.

The doors of the theater will open at 8:45 o'clock in order to allow the crowds ample time to get seated. An interesting program has been arranged to precede the demonstrations, and those desiring choice seats will find it to their advantage to be there early.

First on the program will be a concert on a Stromberg-Carlson radio, which will be followed by a fashion revue staged by Sears, Roebuck & Co. "Smiling" Al Evans, organizer at the Fox, will conduct a "community sing."

Special numbers appropriate for the cooking school have been selected by Mr. Evans for the singing, and slides will be made so that the words may be shown on the screen. The singers in the theater will assist Mr. Evans in leading the singing.

The demonstrations, which will be under the direction of Miss Fannie Hamilton, of the De Both Home-Making schools, will start at 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh, of the De Boths Garden Club.

Upon the simple twist of a basket spoon or turn of a roast may depend the length of your married life. Miss Hamilton warns. She says of all the ways to lose a husband the surest is to remain a poor cook.

Representative Hamp McWhorter, of Oglethorpe, and Representative Linton B. West, of Randolph, are candidates for president of the senate, a position which will be sought again by President W. Cecil Neill. Representative Guy Jackson, of Bleckley, is a candidate for president pro tem. of the senate.

sell is expected to name, in the event of the passage of the Huddleston resolution, two members who will serve with three members of the house, who will return to the lower branch in June, on a commission to draft reorganization plans.

Blind, Crippled Man Slain as Chicken Thief

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—A blind, crippled man, Leo Lewis, 32, was fatally wounded here early today by F. W. Bandy, 64, who told police he caught Lewis attempting to rob his chicken house.

Bandy was held for questioning. Hearing a noise in his chicken house, Bandy seized a shotgun and investigated. He said he saw Lewis come out of the building with hands behind his back and he fired, the charge severing an artery in the leg. Lewis died in a hospital later.

The president is understood to be contemplating a message of considerable length which will not only deal with the economic situation but also with the power of the government. At any rate the plan deserves the careful and painstaking study of officials attempting to solve the fiscal problems we are now facing.

JOHN WHITE ASKS COMPLETE STUDY OF NEW PROPOSAL

Real Estate Owners Can Stand No Further Burden, Champion of Revolutionary Plan Asserts.

AD VALOREM TAX'S ABOLITION PLANNED

Committee of Five, Headed by Mayor, To Study Measure; City Within Rights, Mayson Says.

Atlanta borough council Monday afternoon took first steps in what may result in a drastic "and more equitable" revenue program, when, without a dissenting voice, it voted to establish a committee of five to study a proposal to institute a system of income or sales taxes in lieu of the present ad valorem levy and special tax.

Backed by a ruling of City Attorney James L. Mayson that the Georgia legislature at the present time has ample authority to grant Atlanta "the right to set up an income or sales tax, Councilman John A. White asserted his measure, declaring "real estate can stand no further tax burden and the plan will raise about $2,000,000 a year in additional revenue without increasing the burden now borne by those contributing to the borough governmental expense."

Under action of council Mayor James L. Key will head the committee, with the following other members:

Personnel of Committee.
Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the finance committee of council; Councilman Claude L. Barnwell, chairman of the tax committee of council; B. Graham West, city controller, and one of the three tax assessors. Mr. Key will call a meeting of the committee by the mayor and to begin a comprehensive study of the proposal as soon as feasible, it was said Monday afternoon.

"There are thousands of parcels of property in Atlanta right now that owners cannot sell for the amount at which it is assessed," Mr. White declared. "We have to do something to relieve the financial crisis the borough government is facing in financial matters. I believe the income or sales tax would yield a large amount of money in excess of what is now being collected and at the same time would not increase the tax burden on any individual who now is contributing to the support of the government. At any rate the plan deserves the careful and painstaking study of officials attempting to solve the fiscal problems we are now facing."

Text of Measure.
Text of the White measure as approved by council follows:
"Resolved by the mayor and general council of the borough of Atlanta, as follows:
"Section 1. The mayor, chairman finance committee, chairman tax committee, city controller, and one of the tax assessors to be selected by them, be and they are hereby appointed."

BUILDING PERMITS IN SOUTH INCREASE

A 15 per cent increase in the value of building permits reported by 20 cities in the sixth federal reserve district for January, as compared with December, recovery in the lumber industry, and an increase in cotton consumption, together with a gain in the production of cotton cloth, were indicated Monday in the monthly review of the federal reserve bank through the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta. An advance in the price of silk was also reported. Department store sales, though showing a natural decline in January from the holiday volume recorded in December, fell off considerably less than usual, the report stated, while wholesale trade showed a decrease of only 0.4 per cent.

A sharp decline in the number of bank suspensions, and the resumption of business by a large number of previously suspended institutions, were other encouraging features of the report. Though industrial activity increased in January by slightly less than the usual seasonal amount, the daily average of contracts awarded for residential building, in construction work, increased during the first half of February and there was an increase in contracts for public works and utilities during the latter part of January.

In the sixth district in January over December in the volume of business transactions settled by check as indicated in debits to individual accounts, in building permits, and in the production of pig iron in Alabama and of bituminous coal in Tennessee. The volume of trade, however, showed a seasonal decline.

Heirs to $90,000.

REGINA, Sask., March 2.—(P)—Feminine curiosity revealed to a family of three at Blumenhoff, Sask., today that they are heirs to a $90,000 fortune.

Searching an old chest owned by their father, Edward Iverson, who died in 1925, Edward Iverson, the son, his sister and a brother found a letter. It was in Norwegian. The sister insisted on having it interpreted. It stated that the Iversons had been left the fortune by an aunt who died in Norway in 1923.

RUDY FACES SUIT FOR LOVE SONG

NEW YORK, March 2.—(P)—Another lawsuit has been filed against the crooning orchestra leader, Rudy Vallee. The suit, by Miss Pauline Klemp, 71-year-old sister of a religious order, asks $25,000 damages, charging slander.

Miss Klemp's suit sets forth that in May, 1929, she was in a bank and overheard a young man ask a young woman to repeat after him the words: "I have just received $100 from Rudy Vallee." The young man added, according to the suit: "This is the last money you will receive from me because I am going to commit suicide."

Miss Klemp, observing the young man to be depressed, consoled him, giving him her cross. She saw him home safely and notified attendants at his apartment house to watch him. Recently, she said, she heard the name of Rudy Vallee again and learned his identity. She said he was singing a song in which he said: "Pauline Klemp saved my life, and saved my soul. Pauline, I love you and want to marry you."

Vallee, appearing in Chicago, denied he ever sang such a song or ever heard that name. His attorneys characterized the charges as "preposterous."

There is no secret about coffee freshness. It is merely a matter of rushing the coffee from the roaster to your cup. The reason for the extraordinary freshness of coffees in A & P stores is the speed with which all coffee is sold in this, the world's largest coffee organization.

When it comes to our own blends, Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar, freshness has an entirely new meaning. For we control every step—every hour of time between their roasting and delivery to you. Time cannot rob these coffees of their freshness.

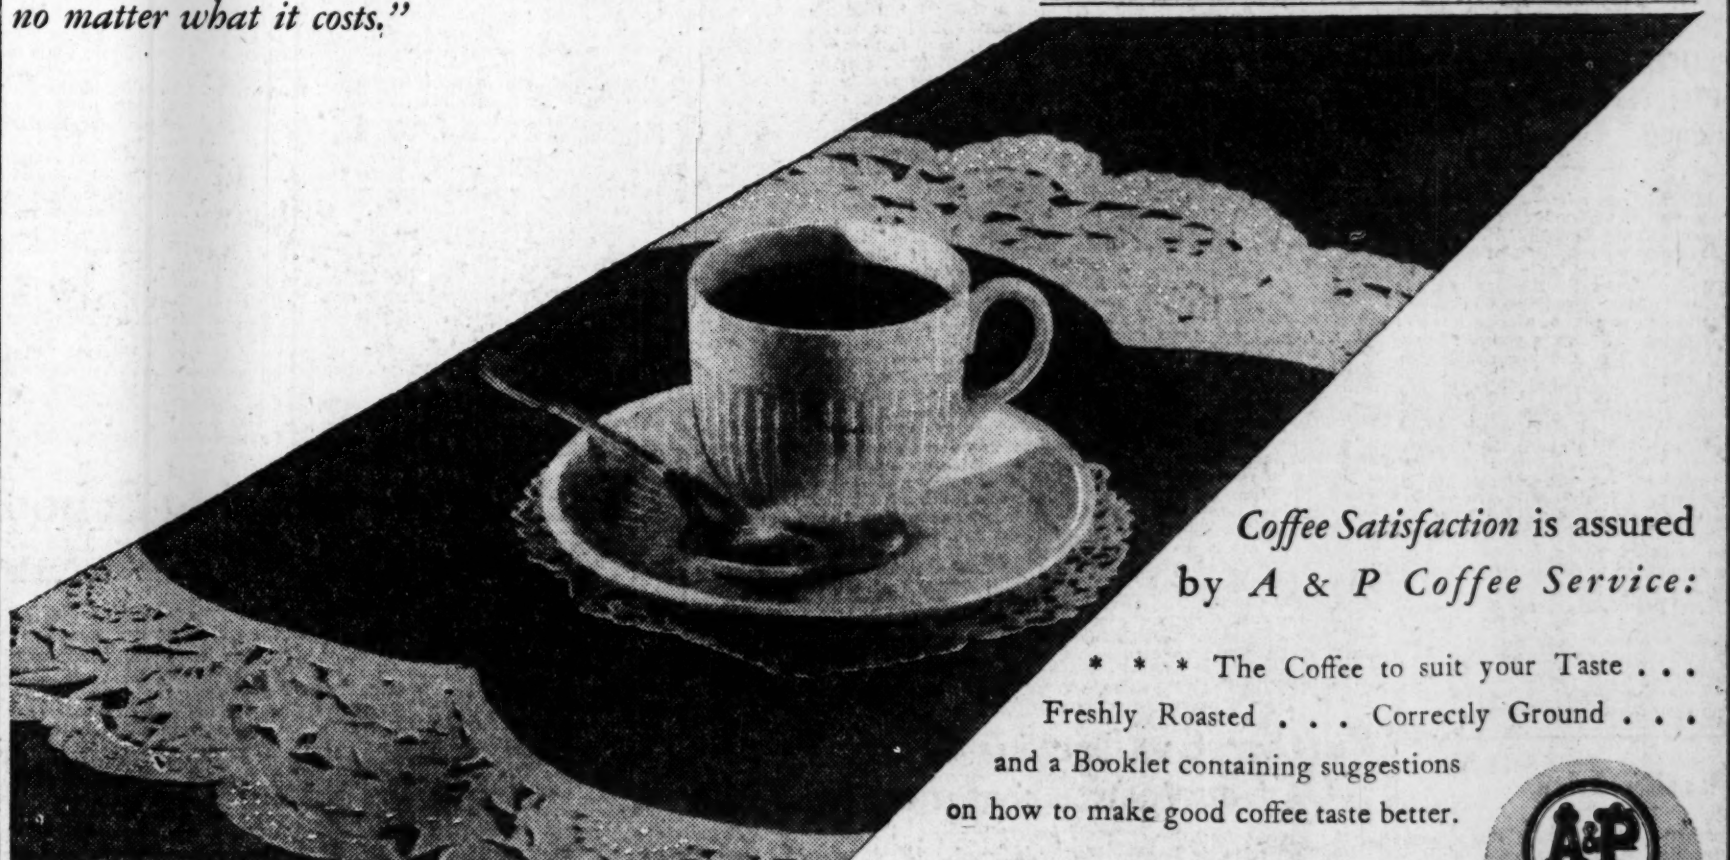

Why not discover for yourself a new idea of coffee freshness—and at the same time prove for yourself that "the coffee you like best is the best, no matter what it costs."

CONFEREES HIT BY SENATOR REED

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—A charge that "log rolling" by the house was responsible for failure of congressional conferees to agree on legislation to construct additional veterans' hospitals was made in the senate tonight by Senator Reed.

The Pennsylvania republican made this charge in reply to a question by Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, who asked the status of the legislation.

The conferees failed again today to reach an agreement on the house and senate bills. Chairman Smoot, of the senate conferees, said the legislation apparently was dead for this session unless the house managers asked for another conference.

The house bill provides $12,500,000 and specifies where every hospital shall go. The senate bill provides a lump sum of $20,877,000 and leaves the location to the executive branch of the government.

ATLANTA CENSUS FIGHT NOT ENDED

Injunction Still Possible, Mayson Says After Adverse D. C. Decision.

Despite the fact that the District of Columbia court of appeals Monday rendered an adverse decision in Atlanta's fight to let the population listed as an entity instead of split into its various boroughs, City Attorney James L. Mayson declared that an injunction suit is still open and that the battle may be shifted into the courts through that medium.

Under the ruling of the court the population of the borough will be listed at 270,360, while a footnote will carry the population of Atlanta, composed of the various boroughs and several unincorporated districts, at 1,691, the figure to which Atlanta claims, under legislative action, it is entitled.

A mandamus action was filed against Dr. William M. Steuart, director, seeking to have the 1930 census enumeration carry 860,691 as the population of Atlanta, and it was this action, declined by the lower court, that at the court of appeals Monday affirmed.

Petition for an injunction was filed and it is denied in the lower courts of the district. Two avenues are now open to Atlanta on the injunction action. The first would be an appeal to a jury and the second would be another appeal to the court of appeals of the district.

Mr. Mayson said he would await communication from Louis Titus, who presented Atlanta's claim, and instructions from Atlanta as to further procedure.

Clear Weather Arrives Today, Forecast Says

Fair weather will visit Atlanta today, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, predicted Monday. Mr. von Herrmann expects temperatures today to range from a 34-degree minimum to 50 degrees maximum. There is no prospect of rain for several days, he said.

February was a moderate, pleasant month, the monthly report of the weather bureau showed Monday. There were no weather records broken during the month. Light rainfall allowed farmers to get in a lot of plowing, and, if March has its normal heavy rainfall, conditions on the farms will be fine, the weather man said.

February ended with precipitation 2.39 inches behind for the month and 4.73 inches behind for the year. The mean temperature was 47.6 degrees, or 2.3 degrees above normal. The highest temperature was 67 on the 6th and the lowest was 25 on the 11th. The highest wind velocity was 33 miles per hour.

A. L. Dunaway, operator of a grocery at 1420 Hardie street, was the victim, according to police reports. Karl Raht, of 953 Gordon street, was another victim of bandits Monday night, he told police.

AUTO DEATH TOLL REACHES NEW HIGH

February Total 5 More Than Last Year; Victims' Rites Planned.

As two victims of automobile accidents died over the week-end, Atlanta's death toll for the month of February mounted to nine, five more than were recorded in February, 1930, according to figures issued by the Atlanta Motor Club.

Funeral arrangements for Karl Smith, 20, of 1141 Briarcliff place, who was instantly killed Sunday when the car he was driving grazed the parked car of R. E. Davis and overturned, were being completed Monday by Harry G. Poole, funeral director in charge. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. M. J. Smith, of Powder Springs, Tenn., three sisters and two brothers.

At the time of the accident Smith was driving a machine owned by his landlady, Mrs. Marie Reeves, of 1141 Briarcliff place.

Services for Mrs. Julia Edison, of 765 Catherine street, S. W., who died Sunday night as the result of being struck down by a car Friday at Stewart avenue and Catherine street, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel by the Rev. Willis M. Jones. Interment will be in Roseland cemetery with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge. Mrs. Edison is survived by a son, H. J. Edison, two sisters and four brothers.

R. L. Brumfield, of 1439 Fairbanks street, driver of the car that struck Mrs. Edison, carried her to the hospital and reported the accident to police. He was charged with reckless driving and is scheduled to be given a hearing at an early date in police court.

In addition to fatalities, 97 persons were injured during February, according to the club's report. Twenty per cent of these injuries were caused by hit-and-run drivers, the report shows, while one death was attributed to the same source. Of the nine fatalities, eight were white persons, and one was a negro. White men drivers still preponderated over women and negro drivers in the list of those figuring in accidents, 137 of such drivers being recorded, against 24 white women and 37 negroes. Major accidents were listed at 153, minor at 258.

C. R. Johnson, 29, of 1049 Marietta street, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when his car skidded from a main road near Roswell and overturned. He was admitted to Grady hospital.

Councilman White Secretary of March Body. Municipal Probe Urged.

With J. H. Ewing, of 1149 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., as foreman and Councilman John A. White, of 301 McKenzie drive, N. Urging the grand jury to read reports of previous grand juries, Judge Pomeroy said that investigation of the city and county should cover all phases of activity and result in concrete recommendations for improvement and progress. He charged the

ROY E. CONGER, AFFRAY VICTIM, IS BURIED HERE

Funeral services for Roy E. Conger, 39-year-old butcher of Hialeah, Fla., and former Atlantan, who was shot Thursday at that city, were held Sunday afternoon at the Cooper Street Baptist church here. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. L. W. Wallace, of 226 Glenn street, S. W., sister of the slain man, told newspapermen Monday that her brother was shot after a quarrel with W. L. Edwards, 45, of Hialeah. The latter admitted that he had been drinking before the quarrel, according to Miami police. He is being held on charges of murder.

DEMOTION OF CAPTAIN FACING POLICE BOARD

Purchase of Radio Equipment Also To Be Before Committee Thursday.

Demotion of one of the four captains in the department and purchase of a radio station to aid in stamping out crime will be before the police committee of council at a special called meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Council Monday afternoon declined to take any steps to relieve the police committee of the responsibility of carrying out its announced intention to reduce one of the four captains. Council declined to pass an ordinance offered by Councilman Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth, to

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Loots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Iowa, who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

Negro, Twice an Escapee, Is Given 10 to 15 Years

Jack Brockman, negro, whose two brief liberties resulted in his getting shot in the foot, Monday received a sentence of 10 to 15 years for robbing Mrs. Georgia M. Peters, of 129 North avenue, N. E., of rings and cash valued at $315.50 on January 12.

Brockman walked out of the courtroom while the jury was deliberating his case, when Deputy Sheriff R. M. Gaines turned his back. Recaptured, he made a dash on Butler street when delivered at Fulton Tower, and was shot in the foot, while an innocent bystander was wounded in the leg with a grazing bullet.

In order that John might not add a third attempt to his escape tries, deputies Monday kept close surveillance over him while out of the tower.

rescind the former decision and leave the four captains in the posts they now occupy.

The Berman paper precipitated a lengthy council debate and resulted in council voting, 21 to 9, to appeal from the decision of the chair, when Mayor Pro Tem. G. Everett Millican ruled that council had no right to repeal the ordinance without first sending the repealing paper to the finance committee. Finally the measure was sent to the finance committee, but not until Millican had been overruled by vote of council.

When council ordered the committee to reduce to ranks one of the captains, it failed to provide salaries for but three. Millican held that inasmuch as there is an ordinance requiring that all papers looking toward expenditure of money be taken to the finance committee, that the paper was out of order, Berman then offered a substitute excepting the one paper, and it was on this that council reversed Millican.

Funds for purchase of the radio equipment already have been voted, and it is the purpose of the committee to buy it at Thursday night's session.

British Get U. S. Troops Into Untimely Action Over Pershing Protest

Appeal for Yankee Forces on Balkan Front. Pershing Proposes American Sector at Chateau Thierry—"We're Frittering Away Our Resources," He Declares to Foch—Tells of Yankee Who Swam River to Receive D. S. C. Decoration.

CHAPTER I.

Regardless of the distinct understanding that our troops behind the British front were there for training and were not to be used except in an emergency, the British made continuous effort to get them into their lines.

They planned an attack by the Australians for the Fourth of July and requested Major General George Read, commander of the second corps, then still in training, to permit some of the troops of the 33d division to take part.

At first the British suggested four companies, but later they wanted the number increased to 10. As the use of Americans at this time was directly contrary to the arrangement, naturally it did not meet with my approval.

Having learned that such a combined attack was planned, I spoke to Marshal Haig about it when I saw him in Paris July 3, and he entirely agreed with my point of view. It seems that General Read, afterward, in accordance with my instructions, told General Rawlinson that I did not want the partially trained troops to participate. However, our troops had by this time become fully committed to it. Although the British chief of staff had consented to leave our troops out, when he learned from Rawlinson that it would compel them to defer the operation, he informed Read that no change could be made without orders from Field Marshal Haig, who, he said, could not be reached, and so the attack was carried out, as I learned the next day.

The incident, though relatively unimportant in itself, showed clearly the disposition of the British to assume control of our units, the very thing which I had made such strong efforts and had imposed so many conditions to prevent. Its immediate effect was to cause me to make the instructions so positive that nothing of the kind could occur again.

The fact that General Read and his officers and men were keen to get into the battle went far to excuse him. It seems needless to add also that the splendid behavior of the troops in the operation was a decided argument in favor of leniency. This division also afterward displayed the same eagerness to get at the enemy in several hard-fought engagements during the trying days of the Meuse-Argonne.

My diary records:

Chateau Thierry, Tuesday, July 9, 1918. Have spent last few days on reorganization of services of supply, consulting with Generals Atterbury, McAndrew, Hagood and Hiltz.

Yesterday saw Colonel Meriwether Walker, head of motor transport, and Colonel A. D. Andrews, chief of administrative section, general staff.

Melville Stone took luncheon with us yesterday and told me that the Associated Press, of which he was then the head, was American first and that if we needed its services to call upon him. General Pershing arrived as chief of Italian mission. Had call by Frederick Palmer and Casper Whitney.

Today discussed corps and army organization and sector occupation with McAndrew, Fox Conner and Fiske. Have recommended shipment of 120,000 tons of steel, besides copper, iron, lead and lumber promised the British. Inefficient loading of transports and arrival of troops without equipment causing some confusion.

Bulgarians reported tired of war. Allied commander on Balkan front telegraphs request for American troops.

Americans Sought for Balkan Front. An appeal for American troops on the Bulgarian front came through General Brillelet from the American front, as indicated by the following cablegram:

Commander-in-chief allied forces on Balkan front wires I report that Bulgarians are tired of war. Austro-Hungary is in unstable condition and her troops on this front are not the best. Line of least resistance to decisive victory is now through Balkan ways. With additional help of one American division without artillery Bulgaria can be defeated and Germany attacked through Austria-Hungary where Jugo-Slavs would aid American division should arrive with as little delay as possible for action before snow fall.

"All Greeks, Serbians and Slavs in the American army should come to Balkan front to encourage Greeks and Serbians and to discourage Bulgarians. Declaration of war by the United States against Bulgaria would greatly increase discouragement in latter country, which now considers United States her friend on final peace congress. All British troops are now leaving Struma section having been replaced by three Greek divisions. One of every four British infantry battalions are now leaving Balkans for another front."

July 10 I went to Bombon, General Foch's headquarters, to discuss the employment of American troops. This visit to Bombon, like all my calls on Foch, was by appointment. My discussion regarding their immediate use of the troops turned on the question of relieving those still with the British. I told General Foch that it had been my intention, when circumstances would permit, to withdraw our divisions to the American zone for the organization of our own army, and I suggested that he should have this done at once before they became engaged, when the transfer might leave the British in an embarrassing position.

My idea was that our divisions could be assembled for service temporarily where needed most, perhaps confronting the Chateau Thierry salient where we already had the 3d (Dickman) and the 26th (Edwards) in line, the latter having recently relieved the 2d (Bundy).

"We should look further than this and decide upon a permanent sector without delay," I added. Attention was called to my tentative understanding with General Petain that the American sector should include the St. Mihiel salient, and to the fact that we had done a great amount of work behind that front, such as the construction of railway sidings, yards, depots, airdromes and a regulating station which was nearing completion.

I went on to say that with American units scattered all along the western front, assigned to no particular zone for future operation, we were postponing the day when an American army would be able to render its greatest help to the Allied cause.

I stressed the point that we were frittering away our resources for lack of a plan and were not able to utilize the full capacity of our facilities.

Instead of thinking of the future, even the immediate future, we were merely temporizing. If we were to do our part to the best advantage we should have a definite place on the front which could be served by our own lines of communication.

I again pointed out that the British were compelled to remain in the north and that the French were covering Paris and the area west of Verdun, and that it seemed logical that we should hold to our original idea as to the location of an American sector.

Also, that from a strategic point of view the new line resulting from the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient would afford a most favorable base for a later offensive toward the vital part of Germany, and deprive her of some of her resources in iron and coal. I therefore strongly recommended this operation as the first American offensive.

Foch Says U. S. Must Have Army. In reply, General Foch said he was glad our views on the situation were so nearly alike.

"Today, when there are a million Americans in France," he added, "I am going to be still more American than any of you. America must have her place in the war, and it is right to have her army organized as such."

"The American army must become an accomplished fact. Moreover, the cause of the Allies will be better served by an American army under its own chief than if its units are dispersed."

Therefore, it is necessary at the earliest possible date to constitute an American army side by side with the French and British armies, and it is necessary to make the American army as large as possible.

General Foch remarked that it might be possible by the end of July to constitute an American army with at least 13 divisions. Asked about arriving for some of our units whose artillery had not arrived, he said Petain would arrange that. He talked a great deal that day, and went on to say that to bring victory to the Allies it would be necessary for them to have an incontestable numerical superiority.

General Foch laid particular stress on the view that the strength of the British and French divisions should be maintained, and the number of American divisions increased as rapidly as possible. Temporarily, he said, as long as the present battle lasted, he was going to ask the American army to help the French army by the loan of the divisions that had not yet received their artillery. He wanted them placed in quiet sectors, or sent to complete their training in areas behind the lines, where they would be available, if necessary, to assist the French troops in front of them.

I agreed with the idea of putting newly arrived divisions in the inactive portions of the line, and we left the details of assignment to be discussed by Weygand and Conner.

With my objective always in mind, I again suggested that the assembly of an American army as a temporary measure might take place in the vicinity of Chateau Thierry, to which General Foch promptly replied that this accorded with his plans. He then referred to a proposed attack that might occur between the 20th and 31st of that month, and indicated that he expected the 1st and 2d divisions to be taken part. He also said an offensive would probably be made by the Allies in September to reduce the Marne salient, if it had not already been reduced. He mentioned the possibility of an operation in the region of Amiens to free the railroads through that place.

The impression this conference left on my mind was that although he had spoken of an earlier date, General Foch was not yet favorable to the formation of an American army before October.

In their mental processes Foch and Weygand were somewhat alike, and I speak advisedly in making this comparison. When Weygand expressed himself it was quite certain that Foch would take the same view. Both during the conference and afterward they emphasized the opinion which we all held, that every effort should be made to win the war in 1919.

Foch said the French and British armies and people were tired of the war, and that the minimum result required of the campaign of 1919 would be to free northern France and at least a part of Belgium. This would demand that all three Allies should utilize all available divisions in co-ordinated attack.

American Salient Tentatively Fixed. The thought was expressed, especially by Weygand, that a certain spirit of emulation among the Allied armies would be necessary to co-ordination, and that the attacks should be launched in the same general region, with interdependent objectives, a conception which would accord with the principle of concentration of effort.

With the British front extending to the vicinity of Amiens, and the French from there to the vicinity of Rheims, the location of the Americans, because of the ports and railroads serving them, would be to the east, but co-ordination of attacks would forbid them going farther east than the sector Rheims-Argonne. This division of the front, both Foch and Weygand thought, would correspond to the forces available in 1919, and also to the peculiar necessities that governed the location of troops of the various nations.

The objective, it was stated, other than the enemy forces, would naturally be the railroad net to include the lateral railway from Meuniers via Cambrai toward Valenciennes and the north. If this line were cut it would throw the bulk of the enemy's traffic on those through Liege, and would force a considerable portion of the army back against the rocky and heavily wooded Ardennes. This would cause the enemy much embarrassment, and compel him to relinquish the territory in northern France and at least a part of Belgium.

The strongest reason advanced at the time in support of their general conception of an Allied offensive was that the spirit of emulation would be aroused among the armies thus fighting side by side. It was argued that this feature would be missed if the Americans should attack in the Lorraine while the British and French attacked in the north.

While nothing definite was then decided, the exchange of views, although rather general, covering the probable operations to be undertaken during the fall and in the following year, did furnish several factors to be considered in the study regarding the employment of the American army.

Leaving Foch's headquarters I went to the headquarters of the Second division, northeast of la Ferté-sous-Jouarre to bestow decorations. One of the men to receive the Distinguished Service Cross swam the river to be present.

This was Marine Gunner (later Lieutenant) Henry L. Hulbert, Fifth regiment, U. S. marines, afterward killed in action while his division was aiding the French in the Champagne. October 4, 1918. This gallant soldier had also received the Croix de Guerre with palm and the Navy Cross, and in 1899, at Samon, the Medal of Honor.

Tomorrow: Pershing presses for offensive and objects to sending our troops to Archangel.

FLORIDA GROWERS WIN BROGDEX CASE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 2.—(F)—Florida growers have won two important decisions which will mean saving of large sums annually, it was announced here late today.

Attorney-General Fred H. Davis was advised that he had won his case against the Brogdex company before the United States supreme court. The Florida official headed a united appeal in which the American Fruit Growers, Inc. was joined by the states of Florida, Alabama, Arizona, California, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas.

In the case the growers sought to escape payment of royalties based on process and article patent claims of the Brogdex company. The claims covered a washing process used in preparation of oranges and other fruit for shipment.

Looking At Life by The

We Smash a Sales
Record

The year 1930 was not particularly notorious for the smashing of sales records. Yet my company, the Pacific Mutual, sold 13% more insurance in that year than during 1929—which was a banner year for life insurance in general.

My company's goal for 1930 was $100,000,000 in new life insurance. The amount actually issued was well in excess of that goal—and this was accomplished in the face of a slight decline in life insurance sales as a whole, due to unusual financial conditions.

Now we all know that the American public was investment-shy in 1930. But the results I have just mentioned seem to indicate that Pacific Mutual offered an investment which appealed to thinking people—a security they felt they could buy, because it was secure in the highest sense of the word.

It doesn't matter a bit whether the stock market goes up or down, tomorrow or next year, or ten years from now... that $100,000,000 worth of insurance purchased from Pacific Mutual in 1930 will continue to be worth 100 cents on the dollar. It is one form of security that really secures.

There is another interesting fact about this investment. Those who contracted for this $100,000,000 to be set aside for their future use didn't actually invest an amount even approaching the principal. In fact, they probably paid to Pacific Mutual in actual money less than four per cent of that sum. Yet, if any one of these people should need his or her fund tomorrow, the entire amount will be paid in full. That's what I call good financing.

HOW TO END RHEUMATIC PAIN

Don't endure the torment and agony of rheumatic aches and pains. Start today to rid your system of acid poisons which are probably the cause of your suffering. A well-known doctor originated Prescription C-2223. It neutralizes toxic acids in the joints and expels poisonous waste matter from your system, thereby eliminating the common causes. All drug stores have generous size bottles of C-2223 which they will sell to you on an absolute money-back guarantee.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Jacobs Pharmacy says one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must end your pile agony or money back—(adv.)

COURT DECISION COSTS U. S. $1,846,340 TAXES

Chicago Estates Held Not
Taxable on Owners' Deaths.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—One of the two opinions handed down by the supreme court today cost the government $1,846,340 in taxes.

The court disposed of six cases with-out written opinions, granted reviews in seven cases and refused reviews in 31 others.

In the tax case it held that trust estates created by Nettie Fowler McCormick and Ellen L. Van Schaick of Chicago, and by Edgar M. Morgan, of Nebraska, were not subject to federal estate taxes on their deaths. The reviews granted included four challenging the oil conservation policy of President Hoover in closing public lands to prospecting.

The court also announced it would decide whether Sheriff Thomas W.

Underwood's Formal Commission Prepared

WASHINGTON, March 2.—E. Marvin Underwood, of Atlanta, will receive his commission as district federal judge either Wednesday or Thursday, according to information obtained here today from the department of justice.

It was stated that the department was notified this morning that his nomination by President Hoover had been confirmed by the senate and that the commission was being prepared today. It will be sent to the White House by special messenger tomorrow to receive the signature of President Hoover, and will then have the official seal of the department attached and at once be placed in the mails. This routine should be completed by Tuesday afternoon.

Cunningham must come to Washington, D. C., for trial under an indictment charging him with contempt of the senate for refusing to answer questions about the campaign of William S. Vare for the senate.

Bridge Game Death Defendant Sobs as Mother Tells of Slaying

KANSAS CITY, March 2.—(AP)—Tears interrupted the trial of Mrs. Myrtle A. Bennett for the alleged "bridge game" murder of her husband today, after Mrs. Alice Adkins, 67, mother of Mrs. Bennett, was called to the stand.

Visibly affected by the ordeal to which her mother was to be subjected, Mrs. Bennett tried to restrain herself. Her sobs became audible when James A. Reed, her chief counsel, asked the witness her name. She was crying without restraint when the mother answered.

Tears welled to the eyes of the former United States senator, when after vainly attempting to start another question several times, he appealed to the court for a recess. Mrs. Adkins, who sat quietly but watching her daughter with concern while friends quieted her tears, presently was able to continue testimony in which she helped develop the theory of the defense that the shooting of Bennett was accidental.

Mrs. Adkins still was on the stand when court adjourned for the day. Defense attorneys said Mrs. Bennett could not understand him. "Myrtle was crying 'Jack, Jack, talk to me' and later said 'If Jack is gone, I want to go, too.' 'She wanted the pistol but I said 'Don't let her get that gun'."

For Hard Coughs That Call For Super-Help

Creomulsion is made for coughs from colds that hang on. For coughs deep and difficult—coughs where you dare not risk a less effective help.

But careful people use it for coughs which seem milder—use it to do the utmost and be safe. For nobody knows where a cough may lead.

Creomulsion combines seven major helps in one. Some coughs yield best to one help, some to another. Doctors often differ on the best help, for coughs are not alike. So here we combine all the best—to be sure.

Creomulsion stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and made palatable. For soothing membranes and combating germs, it is considered the supreme help in this type of cough. But other helps are sometimes needed—pine tar, wild cherry, menthol, ipecac and others. Nobody can tell to which help your cough will soonest yield. So experts have combined in Creomulsion all best helps in one. No narcotic, nothing harmful to a child, but a seven-way help to deal with all conditions.

The price is $1.25—a little higher than a lesser help. But your druggist guarantees it. Your money is returned if it fails to bring the quick, complete help you desire. Don't you think it worth that little extra to be sure that you are doing the utmost for a cough?

CAPONE POSTS BOND PENDING NEW APPEAL

CHICAGO, March 2.—(AP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson today formally sentenced Al Capone to six months in jail for contempt of court, and accepted a new bond of $5,000 pending appeal.

The gang leader's attorneys were given 30 days in which to file the bill of exceptions and Capone was given his liberty until June 1 on a supersedeas order. If by that time the case is not decided by the higher court, Capone must go to the judges of the court of appeals for extension of time.

Capone followed the custom he set in the three days of his trial and appeared again today in a new suit. The first day he wore a blue suit, the second day, gray; the third, brown, and today the ensemble was green. He had nothing to say to reporters. As on the days of the trial, he had a police escort to the federal building and back to his bodyguards.

Tarheels Protest Imprisonment Of Henry Fuller

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., March 2.—(AP)—Vigorous protests against what they consider the unwarranted imprisonment of Henry R. Fuller, of Chapel Hill, in a Memphis, Tenn., jail for two days have been forwarded to the governor of Tennessee, the mayor of Memphis and an editor of a Memphis newspaper by Paul Green, associate professor of philosophy in the University of North Carolina, and W. T. Couch, assistant director of the University of North Carolina Press.

Fuller was arrested and imprisoned Saturday night, February 21, when he went to the Memphis police station inquiring for communistic headquarters there, and was held until the following Monday morning, without charge. Fuller stated that his purpose in making the request was to locate Horace B. Davis, a former professor in a Memphis college. Both protests ask the city of Memphis to make a public apology to Mr. Fuller and to the elementary rights supposedly guaranteed by the constitution of the United States.

Professor Quits Legion Because Of Bonus Stand

HANOVER, N. H., March 2.—(AP)—Professor Adelbert Ames, Jr., of Dartmouth College, has resigned his membership in the American Legion because "its official action and inaction in regard to so-called bonus legislation shows conclusively that the legion no longer represents the veterans of the World War."

Professor Ames, research professor of physiological optics, was a member of the George Rider Post No. 71, American Legion. During the war he was an aeronautical observer at Fort Sill, Okla.

He announced his resignation in an open letter to the Hanover Press in which he charged congress' underlying reason in passing the bonus legislation was vote getting.

His letter said in part: "The legion would have represented the veterans if it had officially stated to congress: 'Give our disabled everything they need, and, if you think it wise, help our unemployed, but, as for the rest of us, we'll take our chances with our fellow citizens.'"

JUDGE WILL GRANT WHITEMAN DIVORCE

CHICAGO, March 2.—(AP)—Superior Judge John J. Sullivan indicated today he would grant a divorce to Paul Whiteman, orchestra leader, who instituted suit last week charging the former Vanda Hoff with desertion.

Whiteman exhibited in evidence an agreement made September 11, 1929, by which his wife would receive $600 a week, payments, however, not to exceed one-third of his annual income. He is to have custody of their son, Paul, Jr., for three months of the year. In the written agreement the couple stipulated that neither would do or say anything derogatory or harassing to the other and they would co-operate to promote the boy's welfare.

CAPITALIST ON TRIAL FOR MURDERING WIFE

HILLSBORO, Ore., March 2.—(AP)—Nelson C. Bowles, Portland capitalist, and Irma G. Loucks, his former secretary, went on trial here today charged with the murder of Mrs. Leone Bowles, who was stabbed to death in Miss Loucks' apartment November 12, last.

The defendants declare Bowles' wife killed herself when she learned of their intimacies.

Every available seat in the new courtroom was occupied.

Of the 50 prospective jurors summoned there was only one woman.

TRIAL OF TAYLOR OPENS WEDNESDAY

Although Solicitor-General John A. Boykin will allow counsel for ex-City Clerk Walter C. Taylor one day of grace because the defense attorneys must appear in another case in Deatur today, he will insist that Taylor's trial begin Wednesday, it was said Monday at the courthouse.

For the fourth time, Taylor is scheduled to face a jury on bribery charges. The defense has indicated that it will seek a postponement until May on the ground that Taylor's physical condition will not warrant his standing another trial at this time, but Boykin made it known that he will resist any effort to delay the trial Wednesday.

Long May Invite Experts To Potlikker Tournament

Staunchly supporting his claim that cornpone and potlikker are merely modern names for the nectar and ambrosia of the ancient gods, and that dunking is the only proper way of putting the two together, the Hon. Huey Long, governor and senator-elect of Louisiana, demonstrated February 28 how the potlikker should be prepared. He ate the resulting brew with what he said were beneficial effects. The chef at Governor Long's New Orleans hotel learned about the essence of turnip greens from the cook of many titles. And Dr. Senator-Governor-etc. Long dunked his cornpone to confound the advocates of crumbling, who are led by the potlikker editor of The Constitution.

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—(AP) Dr. Huey P. Long today tentatively decided to call a potlikker tournament with the Potlikker Editor of The Constitution as the guest of honor in order to demonstrate to the editor the art and etiquette of dunking the cornpone in potlikker, chitterlings and collards, the latter a new ingredient just brought forth. "I am now considering calling a potlikker tournament at the Louisiana white house in Baton Rouge," said Governor Long. "I shall make the Potlikker Editor of The Constitution the guest of honor."

"It seems to me this editor of The Constitution needs education on the usages, the methods of making and the etiquette of serving potlikker. In fact, since reading his editorial I have about concluded that the only way to handle this matter is to make it nationwide and a tournament in which all potlikker enthusiasts may participate. It is my earnest hope and desire to show the Potlikker Editor of The Constitution the error of his ways."

Governor Long said he would surely invite Irving Cobb, Harris Dickson and O. J. Coffin, professor of journalism in the University of North Carolina, who, the governor says, is a recognized authority on chitterlings and collards, and maybe Mayor Walker.

"Chitterlings and cracklings will be served with the potlikker in the Louisiana white house tournament if the proper razorback hog can be secured this late in the season," Governor Long said. "No matter how many notables are invited," he said, "I feel that I owe it to the Potlikker Editor of The Constitution to make him the guest of honor."

A. B. CLUB WILL HOLD DUNKING DEBATE TODAY At its regular Tuesday meeting at the Henry Grady hotel, the American Business Club will debate a question der if it would be in order for a mere housewife, along with various notables, to express an opinion regarding the advantages of crumbling over dunking of one's cornbread into potlikker? I am a native Georgian, reared within a few miles of the state capital, of "cracker" forbears and brought up by a good old black mammy who taught me to crumble my cornbread into my potlikker long before my mother knew I was enjoying such epicurean delights.

Since my marriage to a Michigander I have taught several Yankee "maids" to make real southern cornbread and potlikker. And my family of four—including my Yankee husband—can testify as to the deliciousness of crumbling cornbread into potlikker in true southern fashion. Dunking is a rather recent term, comparatively speaking. It cannot soak up the juice to best advantage. In crumbling, every bit of the cornbread is permeated with the potlikker and it's truly a "dish fit for a king!"

Here's to the crumblers—more power or them! Sincerely,

SUSAN K. SHAW, (Mrs. R. D. Shaw).

Plymouth, Mich., February 26, 1931.

Dear Potlikker and Cornbread Editor: I just want to tell you how impossible it is to "dunk" cornbread. Cornbread is American and dunking is German. Now dunk cornbread—it would ruin the coffee cake to crumble it. No dunking would ruin the cornbread. You have to crumble the cornbread—the coffee cake and "dunking" belong to the Germans and the cornbread, potlikker and crumbling belong to the southerners. So you "crumble" the cornbread and do not "dunk" it.

Yours truly,

(Mrs.) W. L. COUSINS.

Deatur, Ga., February 26, 1931.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratory; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk sixty cents for a bottle of Aspirin and tell him to serve you two teaspoonful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for you: money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold or cough fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children. Aspirin is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal cough and children's choking up at night—(adv.)

COUNCIL AUGMENTS TAX DRIVE FORCE

Atlanta borough Monday voted to augment the force engaged in the drive to place 43,000 delinquents on the tax books and put $500,000 in the borough coffers to meet a financial crisis.

In addition to adding four other policemen to those already engaged in bringing in the tax delinquents, council voted to engage supernumeraries to take the places of the eight men who will be detailed to this work as soon as the mayor approves the measure.

The measure was recommended by the tax committee of council, and had the approval of the finance committee.

More than 100 a day are being forced on the tax digests through the activities of the four men now engaged in the work. It is hoped that the number will be increased to 200 a day with the extra help. Those added to the books are paying an average of $20 each.

U. S. Bureau Striving to Make Loans to Needy Veterans First Georgia Has 56,327 Former Service Men Eligible to Loans Totalling $26,876,787.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—Striving mightily to meet the pleas of all the needy in double-quick time while protecting the treasury from undue strain, veterans' bureau officials settled down today to meet the crest of the wave of loan-seeking veterans. They looked for the peak this week, a number of applicants dwarfing the lines which formed Friday afternoon and Saturday at the more than 50 offices.

A tabulation issued by the bureau

WEIGHED ONLY 90 POUNDS; GAINS 16 TAKING SARGON

"It's Amazing How It Overcame My Troubles," Says Atlanta Woman.

"Since taking Sargon my weight has increased from 90 to 106 pounds—an actual gain of 16 pounds—but the most wonderful part is the new strength and energy it brought me."

MRS. J. H. LANDERS.

declared Mrs. J. H. Landers, 250 Sunset ave., N. E., Atlanta.

"I could just feel myself getting weaker and going down hill every day before taking Sargon. The little I ate soured and severe bloating and heart palpitation followed. At times smothering spells would nearly frighten me to death and splitting headaches would last all day and night. I was constipated, and my liver must have been out of order, for my skin and eyes turned yellow. Sometimes I'd get so dizzy that I'd have to grab hold of something to keep from falling!"

"It's amazing the way Sargon overcame my troubles. I enjoy every meal now, without indigestion, and how thankful I am to be free of headaches and dizziness. My housework is a joy now and I feel like a different woman in every way. I also took Sargon Pills and they keep my bowels and liver regulated perfectly. My husband, mother, and son are also taking Sargon and they all praise it as much as I do."

$400,000 in Borough Pay Rolls Is Ready

Another $400,000 will be in circulation in Atlanta today or tomorrow, the salaries of the 3,000 employees of the borough government for the last half of February, it became known Monday in council.

Alderman James E. Bowden, of the fifth ward, who announced he would offer a paper to issue scrip to meet the payroll, agreed to withhold it on assurance of B. Graham West, comptroller, that the money to meet the payrolls will be ready this morning.

shows Georgia a leader among southern states with a total of 56,327 former soldiers and sailors eligible to loans totalling $26,876,787. Her five immediate neighbors, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Florida and Alabama, have a total of 238,543 veterans eligible to receive loans to the total of $105,039,419, the table shows.

Meanwhile, the bureau drilled away at every chance that came with pleas that the veterans who had no urgent need to borrow keep their loan certificates unimpaired. They combined this with urging upon individual banks to absorb as much as possible of the loan demand. Only 4 1/2 per cent can be charged lawfully on the new loans authorized by congress but the veterans' officials were confident many banks would see their way to make money on this business in view of current low money rates and the rock-like soundness of the security behind the certificates.

Still they could not measure the demand for money confronting them. The minimum would run to $250,000,000, the demand of those really in need. A higher figure would be $500,000,000—loans to those who already have borrowed, and they are in overwhelming majority so far among applicants. The maximum is about $1,700,000,000, a figure they hope to avoid by a large margin.

The most recent loan value summary of the certificates is as of December 1. Separated by states, it follows:

Indecent Shows, Films Draw Ire Of Police Board

Chief of Police James L. Beavers will scrutinize Atlanta theaters for "immodestly clad chorines, unclean shows and disgusting signs," under an order issued Monday night by Alderman Alvin L. Richards, chairman of the police committee of council.

Attack on the theaters came in a meeting of the Atlanta borough council Monday afternoon, when Councilman George B. Lyle, of the eleventh ward, took the floor to support a recommendation of the police committee that permission be granted W. B. Spann to operate a poolroom at 15 1/2 Forsyth street, S. W. The permit was voted 22 for to 10 against.

"I voted against this measure when it was here before, and council turned it down by a majority of two votes," Lyle said. "Since that time I have stepped out a bit. I find that poolrooms, in my opinion, are not as degrading as many of the stage shows and films exhibited here before presumably cultured audiences."

Following Lyle's address, Richards said he would order Chief Beavers to investigate the charges against the screen and stage and take whatever steps are necessary to clean them up.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN DRY LIME KILN

The body of Mel Langley, 45, of 986 Marietta street, was found shortly after noon Monday in a dry lime kiln at a furniture manufacturing plant on Marietta street. Condition of the body indicated that he had been dead for about 24 hours.

Call Officers Wood and Carroll investigated the finding of the body and discovered a bottle, bearing no label, lying at his side, according to their report at police station. An inquest was ordered held. J. A. Robinson, 752 Griffin street, a friend of the dead man, was last seen with him, and Monday night police were holding him as a material witness to appear at the coroner's probe.

Langley is survived by one son, Henry Langley; two sisters, Mrs. T. J. Griffin and Mrs. B. S. Amos, and three brothers, W. D. E. H. and E. H. Langley. J. Austin Dillon Company have funeral arrangements in charge.

WARD OF B. L. BUGG ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Wayne Stillwell, 12-year-old ward of Benjamin L. Bugg, president of the A. B. & C. railroad, was turned over to the Atlanta juvenile court by DeKalb county police Monday charged with theft of a watch valued at $300 and $65 in cash from his benefactor. The youth, an orphan, disappeared from the Bugg residence a little more than a week ago and the watch and money were reported missing at the same time. He was arrested Monday when police traced him through a used car said to have been bought with the watch and money in December. Jim Mitchell, driver of the car, was arrested and charged with possessing whisky, 24 gallons having been found in the machine, according to DeKalb officers.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD TO PLAN TAX ELECTION

Body Will Discuss Methods of Averting $90,000 Annual Revenue Loss.

An election to put into effect in Fulton county a constitutional amendment of 1920 authorizing a special tax levy for schools will be discussed at a meeting of the county board of education at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The board faces a $90,000-a-year loss of revenue through a supreme court decision holding the 1919 act allowing a special levy of 2 1/2 mills void.

At the same meeting the board probably will discuss the matter of holding a $500,000 county school bond election jointly with the tax levy election. The bond election can be called by the board, to complete the school building program, on a petition of 25 per cent of the registered voters. If the board decides in favor of the proposed bond issue petitions will be circulated at once, it was said.

Bandit Takes Kisses And Returns Money

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—(AP)—Al Brown and Miss Nina Wolf were seated in an automobile here yesterday when a robber thrust a revolver at them and ordered Brown to "drive around a little."

He took $2.50 from Brown.

"Pretty kid you've got here," he told Brown, "got any money to take her out with?"

"You've got it all," said Brown.

The bandit kissed Miss Wolfe three times, handed Brown back a dollar and disappeared. Later police arrested Tom Love, 33, whom the girl tentatively identified as the author of the kisses.

"You've got it all," said Brown.

LOVE, ADVENTURE IN "MEN ON CALL"

"MEN ON CALL," with Edmund Lowe, Nevel and short subjects.

A charming love story with the United States coast guard providing the human background sums up "Men on Call," first-run attraction at the Grand theatre the first three days of the week.

The star of the production is Edmund Lowe, while Mae Clarke furnishes a thoroughly acceptable female love interest. It is a Fox picture with action sufficient to lure all lovers of adventure to the coast guard recruiting station. A happy ending, incidentally for convenience of characters, the coast guard has established a temporary information booth for their organization in the lobby.

The story opens with the hero a railroad engineer. A misunderstanding, later down and out, he is a preliminary director and will request members of the Fulton county election in the summer session of the general assembly to support it in that body.

Atlanta now faces a deficit of $1,000,000 through operation for the year, and a revision of the revenue system in some way is necessary to

MACDONALD STARS AS "LOTTERY BRIDE"

"THE LOTTERY BRIDE," with Jeanette MacDonald, Nevel and short subjects, etc.

Jeanette MacDonald is one of my favorites of the talking screen. That classes her with a select group that numbers, at the outside, no more than half a dozen. Whenever the fair Jeanette is programmed in a picture, of whatever kind, I'll be there.

"The Lottery Bride," at the Paramount for the first three days of this week is, in many respects, good entertainment regardless of star and support. In other respects it is open to some vital criticism. The presence of Jeanette, with her lovely face and lovely voice and lovely acting covers all sins of the producer, however. The main fault with the picture is due to the fact that it was produced by a man whose entire training and experience has been with the stage. The result is he has created some wonderful stage scenes for his back-grounds but picture audiences have been so used to the real thing that when an effect is obviously stagey, they are apt to sneer, no matter how well done it may be.

Of course it is, perhaps, asking too much for the players and cameras to go to the arctic wastes when they want a scene with a wrecked dirigible near the pole. Such a scene is a picture. Producers for the screen, however, should so arrange their plots that they don't need shots impossible to take on a location.

Jeanette is her adorable self. She is ably supported by John Garrick, Joe E. Brown, Zasu Pitts and a lot of other good performers. And she ends in the arms of the right man, after all her experiences in prison—yes, she's arrested at one point—and as a "lottery bride," an everything.

Paramount Sound News, a clever comedy and other short subjects complete the program.

"COSTELLO CASE" SHOWN AT RIALTO

Tense moments occur when a patrolman sets out to nab a gangster for murder in the "Costello Case," Rialto picture showing this week at the Rialto theatre. Tom Moore, a silent film file of silent film stars, comes to the talking picture screen as the clever policeman who helps a young couple out of a jam and solves the murder mystery by a bit of watchful waiting and careful baiting of the slayer.

Lola Lane and Russell Hardy have the parts of the girl and boy befriended by the policeman, and Wheeler Oakland makes a suave, polite gangster. James Cruze directed the picture, and put into it an enjoyable touch of comedy as well as a number of thrilling situations.

The Rialto program includes "Dance With Me," a Pathe comedy, and one of those delightful Paul Terry animated cartoons set to music.

Pelicans Menace to Fish.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ontario, March 2.—(AP)—Fred E. Burns, a guide, today reported a family of not less than 1,000 pelicans wintering at Coppermine Point, north shore of Lake Superior.

The guide said the birds are a menace to Algoma's far-famed trout because of their enormous appetite for fish.

Cruelty, Terror of Dark Continent Unfolded in Thrilling 'Trader Horn'

A group of lions, herds of hippos, elephants and rhinos, tens of thousands of deer and unnumbered crocodiles make up one group of actors in "Trader Horn." Hundreds of African savages, perhaps the most horrible humans ever seen on the screen, make up another group.

Between the two, struggling against all the cruelty and terror of the dark continent, struggling for life, are three whites and one native character. They are Harry Carey, as "Trader Horn," Edwin Booth, as the "White God," Duncan Renaldo, as "Little Peru," and Omoo, as the trader's gun bearer.

With Director W. S. Van Dyke catching the spirit of Africa with the same genius that put the soul of Polynesia onto the screen in "White Shadows of the South Seas," the result is a picture that stands out above anything yet made, for thrill and terror and mystery.

Opening for a de luxe run at the Erlanger theatre on Monday night, "Trader Horn" is to show twice daily all this week, at 2:30 and 8:30. If Atlanta theatergoers know a thrill when they meet one, there shouldn't be a vacant seat at a performance.

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer bought the picture rights of the famous book that, through the words of Mrs. Ethelreda Lewis, recounted the astounding life story of Aloysius Smith, better known as "Trader Horn," there was some wonder as to what kind of picture would result. They sent Director Van Dyke with a complete outfit of players, technicians, etc., to the coast guard.

The company stayed there for nine months. Now, with the picture before us, we know they have

Mussolini Praises United States For Aiding New Naval Accord

(Editor's Note—The United States is credited with exerting a highly helpful influence toward the new British-Franco-Italian naval accord in the following statement by Premier Benito Mussolini, written exclusively for The Associated Press. He adds that President Hoover initiated the present phase of the movement toward peace and also regards Italy as having done fully her duty to the world in this at a considerable sacrifice.)

ROME, March 2, 1931.—(AP)—The agreement reached on the naval questions which were left unsolved at the London conference is a great international event.

It will have large and beneficial repercussions not only on the Anglo-French relations but also on those of the five great powers which thus see consolidated the results so ardently desired by their peoples as a means of avoiding a ruinous armament competition.

It is reasonable to hope for favorable influence on the world economic crisis that so greatly harasses peoples with the most evident is unemployment.

For these and for other reasons the happy results of the agreement may be felt by all the peoples of the world, and so is made a fortunate beginning of this year of preparation for the general disarmament conference.

GEORGE NAMED TO ACT IN HEFLIN RACE PROBE

Short Session's End Means
More Work for Georgia
Senator.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(Special.)—While many members of the United States senate will be enjoying junketing trips to various sections of the country, or resting quietly at home after the present session ends

Wednesday, Senator Walter F. George will not be allowed any such privilege. This comes from the fact that he has been named by Chairman Samuel M. Shortridge, of the committee on privileges and elections as a member of the subcommittee which will investigate the recent election in Alabama, in which "Tom" Heflin was defeated by John H. Bankhead.

Other members of the committee are Hastings, of Delaware; Waterman, of Colorado; Glenn, of Illinois, and Bratton, of New Mexico. A resolution has been introduced in the Alabama legislature, which is now in session, to instruct the sheriffs of the various Alabama counties to impound the ballot boxes used in the election and send them to this city for examination by the subcommittee.

In case this resolution is not passed the subcommittee will take such action, being so empowered by the senate.

It is not expected that the committee will start its work until from 30 to 60 days after the adjournment of congress on March 4, and it will probably take from a month to six weeks to examine the ballots, following which testimony from both sides will be heard. All hearings will take place in this city, it has been decided.

Senator Heflin, who was defeated, according to the official returns, by about 60,000 votes, has claimed that he was the victim of fraud, although the Nye committee's investigators who were sent into the state failed to find any great amount of evidence to support his assertion.

"In your folio of thrill pictures place four big stars opposite Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's 'Trader Horn.' By all means corral the members of the family and head for the Erlanger Theatre. Without doubt patrons of the silver screen have never seen a picture to equal 'Trader Horn.' Thrills abound. There are more spine-chilling episodes and gripping realisms than any other African picture can boast. As a dramatic achievement 'Trader Horn' is outstanding. It thrilled me as no other wild-life picture has. It is earnestly recommended for your theatrical digestion."

J. RAYMOND BELL, Georgian-American.

"'Trader Horn' brings to the screen the thrilling beauty and the stark terror of Africa's little known jungle and veldt. There are breath-taking scenes where wild and horned beasts charge a group of actors. 'Trader Horn' contains scenes of wild life more startling than any yet shown on the screen."

FRANK DANIEL, Journal.

"There are scenes in 'Trader Horn' that are as spectacular as any the screen has known. And there are moments of horrified suspense that are more frightening than any that have gone before. Just let a few hundred people see it and talk about it in the highways and byways and the boxoffice question should be answered to the entire approval of any manager. 'Trader Horn' provides so many thrills that the picture is just about the most exciting and most breath-taking production the talking screen has achieved."

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—Secretary Hyde today informed the senate that the department of agriculture is ready to dispense the $65,000,000 drouth relief loans at once.

Hyde said instructions and forms were being forwarded to state committees today.

"There exists now no reason why applications for loans under any and all sections of the resolution and the $20,000,000 appropriation may not now be received and payment made shortly thereafter," Hyde said.

The secretary's letter was in reply to a senate resolution asking why loans

Baby Whale Literally Commits Suicide

NORFOLK, Va., March 2.—(AP)—A 445-pound baby whale literally committed suicide near here today and tonight the body was in cold storage.

Finally Moody jumped into water up to his neck and pushed the leviathan into swimming clearance.

ROSE DENIES KNOWING OF BLOSSOM'S ACTIONS

C. O. P. Leader Says He Did Not Know Macon Man Had Violated Any Law.

Josiah T. Rose, internal revenue collector for Georgia and chairman of the republican state central committee, Monday issued a statement denying reports that he had made light of charges sent to Washington in connection with activities of George L. Blossom, of Macon, in alleged collection of money for the Lankford-Carswell congressional fight in the eleventh district last summer from civil service employees.

"While in Washington last week, there was something said about some letters sent out by Mr. Blossom as chairman of a special committee, called, I believe, the eleven district congressional finance committee, some time last summer. I recalled that Senator Harris was reported to have taken this matter up with the department of justice, and while I was in his office last week the subject was mentioned," Rose said.

"Senator Harris said that he was not a lawyer and did not know (nor does he now know) that any law was violated. I told him that that was exactly my position. I did not make light of anything, but I did say I knew Mr. Blossom would not under any circumstances send out any letter knowingly in violation of any law.

"I never received one of the letters and I do not know to whom they were sent, nor do I know how much was contributed as a result of the letter. But knowing Mr. Blossom as I do, I know whatever he received was applied to the purpose for which the committee of which he was chairman was organized."

ALABAMA BANK BANDIT FALLS TO POSSE'S GUNS

ALICEVILLE, Ala., March 2.—(AP)—A posse today overtook and probably fatally wounded a white man within a few minutes after he had robbed the People's bank here of $2,000.

The man was pursued by a posse that formed quickly at the alarm sounded by Robert Pope, cashier, who was alone at the time of the robbery. The bandit was overtaken on the highway between here and Eutaw and was wounded when he resisted capture.

Pope said the man entered the bank and covered him with a pistol, then calmly cleaned out the cash drawer and fled in an automobile.

The man, Pope said, he recognized as a barber named White.

SENATE APPROVES REFUND TO M'LEOD

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2. Within 24 hours after the introduction of a measure for the relief of United States Marshal George B. McLeod, of the southern district of Georgia, Senator William J. Harris obtained its passage by the senate, and is confident that it will be passed by the house at the present session.

The bill provides an appropriation of $577 to reimburse the marshal for money which he paid out of his own pocket for stenographic services which were necessary for court work.

When he made claim for this amount he was turned down by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl, hence it became necessary to take legislative action to bring about the refund.

Freighter Rescues Man Adrift at Sea

NEW YORK, March 2.—(AP)—The master of the freighter Harbor Jensen rescued the offices of the United Fruit Lines that he had picked up a man adrift in a fishing boat 60 miles off Panama early today. No further details were given.

The Harbor Jensen left Honduras Saturday bound for Philadelphia. Panama is off the south coast of Florida.

NORTH CAROLINA CURBS FINANCING

RALEIGH, N. C., March 2.—(AP)—The right of North Carolina counties, municipalities and other subdivisions to issue bonds and tax anticipation notes solely on their own initiative was abolished by the legislature today.

Final approval was given a bill, which will become law 15 days after the formal ratification, providing for the establishment of a "local government finance commission," which is charged with approving all proposed local bond issues, and with the actual sale of the bonds or notes.

The legislation is an extension of an act of 1927, which gave the state supervision over county borrowings, but which did not provide the same control over municipal and district financing.

MANY ILLS ARE DUE TO FATIGUE

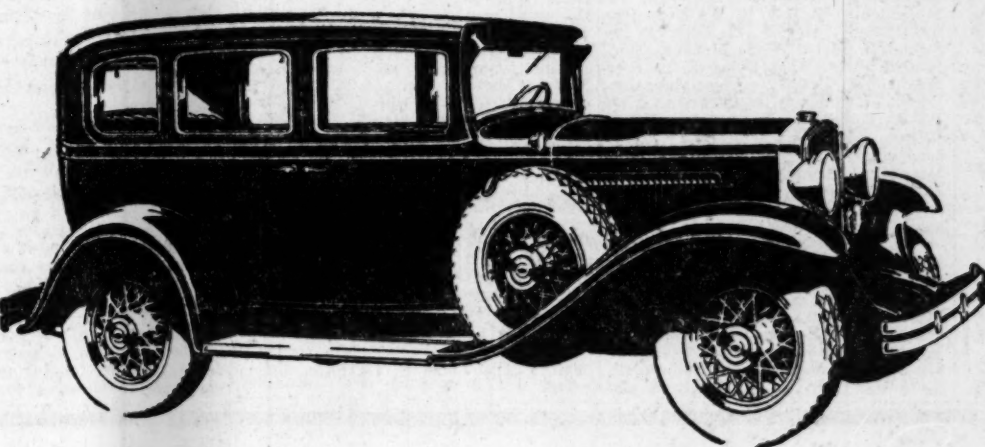

Common Cold Is Very Easy
"To Catch" When "Tired Out"

Fatigue, according to medical authorities, lowers the resistance of the human system. As a result, the system is more susceptible to infections. For example, when fatigued, the body is easily chilled and often a head cold or worse follows.

One of the most effective ways to overcome fatigue is to eat or drink something sweet. A soda fountain beverage, ice cream, a piece of candy and small cakes are appropriate because they are quickly digested and their energy is ready at once to restore vigor.

Thousands of people who work, or spend the day shopping, have learned the value of a mid-afternoon sweet snack to banish fatigue. Children upon coming home from school are also benefited by a light, nutritious sweet food. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Famous Home Economist Chooses New Chevrolet Six

The noted home economist, Miss Jessie Marie DeBoth, who through her organization is conducting the Atlanta Constitution Homemakers School this week, has selected a new Chevrolet Six for the personal use of her representative during her stay in Atlanta.

The reason behind her choice is the very same reason that has caused thousands of discerning women everywhere to buy this smart and sturdy Six. "It is ideal for the modern woman," says Miss Fannie Hamilton, Miss DeBoth's representative.

Smart new lines of pleasing grace and distinction—attractive new color schemes—bigger, roomier Fisher bodies—upholstery fabrics of mohair or broadcloth—beautiful new Ternstedt fittings—adjustable driver's seat—easier riding, easier steering, easier gear shifting—"soft" pedal action of brakes and clutch—these features, in themselves, might easily explain the preference for Chevrolet among women owners and drivers. But one of the biggest reasons why the Chevrolet is so ideal for the modern woman lies in its motor. For Chevrolet engineers have brought out the full possibilities of Chevrolet's smooth six-cylinder engine. The result is pronounced smoothness and quietness—unusual flexibility—marked simplicity of control—and rigid operating economy.

If you are interested in learning why Miss DeBoth, and many other leading women, are recommending the new Chevrolet as "the ideal car for women," visit your Chevrolet dealer and see this bigger and better Six. Inspect it—sit in it—drive it. Just as surely as you do, you'll agree that the new Chevrolet Six is without doubt "The Great American Value."

GEORGIA MAN HELD IN COLUMBUS SLAYING

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 2.—(P.) O. F. Smith was under arrest here Monday charged with slaying Sergeant Edgar S. Folsom, of the Twenty-ninth infantry, Fort Benning, who died of knife wounds which police said Smith admitted inflicting during a struggle in the soldier's car.

Mrs. Smith was held as a material witness. Smith told officers he approached Folsom's car at his home late Saturday night as Mrs. Smith was alighting and asked Folsom why he was "taking my wife out."

The sergeant replied Mrs. Smith was not married, according to the husband's story to police, and cursed Smith when he replied she was married. Folsom moved as to get out of the car. Smith said he pushed Folsom back and struggled with him. Officers said he told them he drew a knife and cut Folsom. Doctors at the hospital, where Folsom died a short time later, reported the jugular vein had been severed.

Officers said Mrs. Smith told them she had had some liquor with a friend and did not know when she got in the soldier's car. They said she admitted riding with Folsom.

The young lady in question is Martha Duncan Glover. She signed with the troupe, while visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Dudley at 680 Juniper street. She is the possessor of a rare voice, trained in the Wesleyan Conservatory of Music at Macon. Last Friday she sang at an American Legion luncheon and her accompanist, Mrs. Jessie R. Americus Singer Joins Vaudeville Act On RKO Time

Today a 20-year-old singer, hitherto unknown save to kinsmen and neighbors in her home town of Americus, faces the bright prospect of a future in RKO vaudeville, after she was signed in Atlanta by J. Seiler when a member of his troupe was forced to leave him here.

The young lady in question is Martha Duncan Glover. She signed with the troupe, while visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Dudley at 680 Juniper street. She is the possessor of a rare voice, trained in the Wesleyan Conservatory of Music at Macon. Last Friday she sang at an American Legion luncheon and her accompanist, Mrs. Jessie R. Arnold, of the Boston Academy of Music, recommended her to Mr. Seiler. After a tryout she was given the position and will appear behind the footlights for the first time in her life in Memphis next Friday night.

The lower federal courts decided against all of the contentions of the insurance company, which asked the supreme court for a review. It was refused Monday, leaving to stand the decision of the lower federal court.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things
—Fat Melts Away

NO tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the course lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink. Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toast, whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream).

At lunch eat a good size piece of lean meat, three or four hard-boiled eggs, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli or fresh turnips you can eat. EAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY. HOLD these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit; cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears—any except bananas. Substitute turnips for potatoes. Substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP-FILL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS
GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK ANY DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. "The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat."

Start today! Clip this dietary out and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle costs less than a dollar.

"Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work."

I walk," writes Mary Sanderson, West Warwick, R. I.

Lots of doctors always recommend Lin-O-Nine for colds, coughs and colds. It isn't expensive and works so surely and quick. Nothing could be nicer to take and it eases the cold right away. I kept a bottle of Lin-O-Nine for a long time. I had a terrible cough and winter cold for almost two years after my attack of the flu, and it finally wore me down until I was exhausted and very weak. Just a short walk would give me pains in the chest, and start up a fit of coughing that would almost make me fall to the street. Then I learned about Lin-O-Nine and strange as it may seem it took less than one bottle to completely rid me of my trouble. It seemed to ease me right away. I have had a coughing spell since, no matter how far or fast

Vivian Gordon's Death Leads To New War Against Crime

Citizens' Vigilance Committee Forms To Wage Unceasing Fight on Corruption.

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE.
NEW YORK, March 2.—(UP)—The Vivian Gordon murder mystery, combining the falsely glamorous elements of dazzling night life with the most sordid phases of vicious criminality, today provoked a new declaration of war upon the twin citadels of underworld power and political corruption.

The dead head of Vivian Gordon, 40-year-old demi-mondaine with the face of a girl, whose criminality was exploited by others for years, and whose death came when she sought to turn upon her exploiters with all the bitterness of cumulative passion and revenge, has stirred a crusade by outraged citizens. Its purpose will be fulfilled when vice is divorced from politics and the evil interlocking of the two "systems" has been shattered.

Six hundred detectives and policemen, a majority of them honestly determined to find the slayers of Vivian Gordon—and some of them trembling in fear of the disclosures that may come from it—are engaged in today's hunt. Already they have clues which carry the thread of Vivian Gordon's life up to a few blank hours before her lifeless body was thrown from a limousine in which she had been strangled, and rolled into a lonesome gully of Bronx park.

Facts in Hand.
The police know, from an unnamed maid in her employ, that Vivian Gordon was driven in a big car, from 40th street and Broadway to Mount Vernon subway station, and then to her home, while the maid herself occupied one of the auxiliary seats. At five minutes before midnight, the maid was dropped off at her Mount Vernon home, and the big car rolled away toward Vivian's death. At dawn on the following morning, Vivian's body, dressed in delicate silk underwear, an expensive evening frock, and torn silk stockings, was discovered. The stranglers' rope was still knotted around her neck.

Vivian Gordon had written a letter to the commission which has been untangling the raveled skein of political corruption. She had appeared once, in secret, before one of the chief investigators. She had boasted, in letters to her former husband, John Bischoff, and to Patrolman Andrew J. McLaughlin, a vice squad detective, that she would expose a "frame-up" by which she said the investigation of the Bedford reformatory for prostitution.

McLaughlin, returning from a trip to Bermuda two days after the murder, told the investigation, "Sure," he said, "I remember getting a letter from her. But she had nothing on me. I stand on my record." What Bischoff told the investigators before whom he appeared today was not revealed.

A police guard tonight surrounded the home of the maid-witness. The police have been "unfortunate" with many of their witnesses. Three of them, a Bronx policeman and two taxicab drivers who are said to have heard the screams of a woman—"They're killing me!"—coming from a large automobile as it sped through Van Cortlandt park, were said to be missing today.

Far-Reaching Program.
Meanwhile, stirring unceasingly under the revelations of the paralyzing grip that is held upon the forces of law and order by the prince and queen of the underworld, New York burghers hastily conceived of a far-reaching program for the unification of assault upon the system.

First suggested by Rabbi Stephen Wise, and then receiving the backing of the Consumers' Guild, through its president, E. C. Riegel, the plan is for formation of a "vigilance committee"—a grand inquisitorial body, perpetual in nature, which will investigate, investigate and investigate the activities of all public officials, of courts, of police forces.

"We must scrutinize government in all its branches and its officials from the governor down," Riegel wrote. "The first task of establishing the permanent board accomplished, the endless task of the committee begins, the task of watching the watchers, for they, too, will have human weaknesses.

But the burden of vigilance always remains with the citizen.
"For the greater criminal we have not yet created a police force. The challenge is upon us to finish the mechanism of government or revert to self-government in its purest sense—which is anarchy."

WOMAN'S INTIMATE NOTES SHOW SHE EXPECTED DEATH
NEW YORK, March 2.—(UP)—The hitherto closely guarded secrets—sketchily penned hopes and fears of Vivian Gordon, strangled Broadway last night, and vice inquiry witness, as revealed in her diary, were made public late today by District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin.

They revealed that she realized better than anyone else the flame which she had been playing would eventually sear out her life. They showed also that she knew her death had been planned at least once before and she lived in daily fear of the end.

And again named as the men she feared most her own attorney and another as "the man who was to knock me off last winter."

"J. A. R." here—again hinted at as a henchman of John A. Radeoff, both held in $50,000 bail each in connection with the slaying.

"J. A. R." here—again hinted at as a henchman of John A. Radeoff, both held in $50,000 bail each in connection with the slaying.

"There is $8,000 in mortgages of mine in his office," the executive-maid girl wrote.

And again "John A. Radeoff offered me $500—no show up. Waited 7 1/2 hours—phoned his home—went over there—had it out with him—told him as he and wife were going out for a walk—read the riot act at him—she didn't say a thing—dumb, dumb, dumb."

C. has been in to see him in the past week. Sam Cohen is the one who was to knock me off last winter. I guess J. A. R. is seeking his services for that deal. J. A. R. would stoop to anything. J. A. Radeoff is the only enemy of mine because of certain things I told his wife in retaliation for all the rotten things he had done to me—he was just using me for a good thing—treating me for a bad thing—because he knew he could borrow money from me, because I have a $11,300 mortgage due to close October 30. It wouldn't surprise me a bit if he tries to get that money.

"No one close to me to put up a squawk if anything happens to me." On February 13, 1929, she wrote: "The threat has been made. Sam Cohen, who is a client of J. A. R. in a case, has brought two things to J. A. R. office. J. A. R. told me and he refuses to let them go. How did they know J. and I had a scrap—unless he told S. C. And why make a confidant of a common lost thief?"

"The above information J. A. R. told me in my apartment after reconciliation February 23, but still I fear this information—in case his man is, according to him—"

And there the entry abruptly ends, as if to deepen an already baffling mystery.

I. C. C. POSTPONES CUT IN GRAIN RATE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(UP)—The interstate commerce commission today postponed from April 1 to June 1 the date when revised freight rates on grain and grain products are to become effective.

AMENDMENTS DELAY FUND BILL ACTION

$100,000,000 Second Deficiency Measure Remains in Dispute.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(UP)—Ten amendments to the $100,000,000 second deficiency appropriation bill remained in dispute today after a partial conference agreement on scores of others had been adopted by the senate.

Among the items on which no agreement was reached and which probably will go out before final adoption are the senate amendments providing $10,000,000 for Cove Creek dam in Tennessee, $1,500,000 for the United States employment service to launch the national-state employment system under the Wagner bill, and $5,000,000 for new veterans' hospital construction.

All of these items are to carry out measures already passed but which are either in conference or before President Hoover awaiting his action.

Others items in dispute include $5,000,000 for the reclamation fund. The southern items which have been objected to by the house conferees and probably will be eliminated provide $13,466 to reimburse Florida for expenditures on federal highways to memorialize the first permanent settlement of the west at Harrodsburg, Ky.

Another senate amendment not accepted by the house group would repeal an act providing that no new state shall be acquired by the government for a courthouse and customs house at Newbern, N. C., until the city of Newbern agreed to purchase the old site and building for a sum not less than the cost of the new site.

NEW ORLEANS OFFICIALS FLAYED BY GRAND JURY

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 2.—(UP)—Recommending among other drastic changes that the government take immediate steps to erect its own prison in the city of New Orleans and that strict discipline be enforced in the house of detention, the Orleans parish grand jury in a final report today swept aside the first administration of certain of the city's public institutions and charged "negligence, maladministration and dishonesty" to politics.

In other city institutions the work was commended and District Attorney Eugene Stanley was praised for his efforts in tracing down crime and laying the facts before the jury.

The report warned of a renewal of vandalism which recently damaged the new penal institution unless the system is changed and declared that the investigation of back tax rackets at city hall which has already resulted in two convictions was "very illuminating to the jury and to the casual taxpayer and the layman who imposes trust in public officials."

George Bernard Shaw Draws Fire Of Leading American Film Director

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 2.—(UP)—George Bernard Shaw got his answer today from Hollywood and Theodore Dreiser and other so-called "literary giants" came in for mention in verbal fireworks set off by the Irish playwright in his reply yesterday to an American criticism of his English-made talking pictures, "How He Lied to Her Husband."

Joseph F. von Sternberg, leading director noted for silent and talking film successes, including "The Blue Angel" and "Morocco," led the attack.

"George Bernard Shaw," he said, "is antiquated and old-fashioned. He is operating, thinking, talking and writing in terms of the last century. He emptied himself 20 years ago and that also applies to many of the so-called literary giants—in particular Theodore Dreiser."

Von Sternberg, who began production today on the American novelists' "American Tragedy," would offer no personal reasons for special mention of Dreiser, who by terms of the sale of film rights to his book to Paramount two years ago for $150,000, was entitled to read the screen adaptation before production.

Samuel Hoffenstein, screen writer who prepared the treatment, is meeting Dreiser in New Orleans to show him the script for the first time, said von Sternberg, but actual shooting of the picture began today.

The director implied Dreiser represents "the a-priori attitude" toward senate late today by a joint legislative branch and insurance investigation committee.

The operations of A. B. Banks and a group of men associated with him in the banking and insurance field were held responsible for "much of the trouble and financial disaster the state has experienced," in the report.

The report, a preliminary one, dealt only with the committee's investigation of bank crashes and their contributing causes.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO AID MOTHERS

NEW YORK, March 2.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor of New York state, appointed today a national Golden Rule Mothers' Day committee which will work for the assistance of mothers in need. Mrs. Roosevelt spoke at an advertising club luncheon.

Mother's Day, May 10, is to combine the homage of other years with the practical assistance of Golden Rule Sunday, heretofore observed between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"It is to meet the need which has become acute this winter," said Mrs. Roosevelt, "that the Golden Rule Foundation is making a special appeal through the national Golden Rule Mothers' Fund committee."

Charles Stebbins, of the Golden Rule Foundation, who presided at the luncheon, said the aim of the campaign would be to rescue Mother's Day from commercialism. He explained, "We want to get it into the larger sphere and aid underprivileged mothers and children."

BANKING DEPARTMENT PRAISED IN ARKANSAS

OVER 300 ARRESTED IN TEXAS OIL TOWN

Rangers Raid Kilgore, Booming City, in Cleanup Drive.

KILGORE, Texas, March 2.—(UP)—Eight Texas rangers swept down upon this booming, mushroom oil town today with a series of vigorous raids upon its centers of easy frontier life and arrested more than 300 persons in an effort to round up undesirable persons.

The rangers, led by Captain Tom Hickman, arrested 75 persons five minutes after they arrived. These were placed under guard in the Kilgore Baptist church.

The oil boom in east Texas recently increased the population of Kilgore from 500 to 10,000. Advertisers of both sexes thronged the town to overflowing, quickening to a feverish tempo the formerly placid life of a cotton growing community.

Oil field toughs were arrested right and left this afternoon as the rangers marched through the crowded streets. Muddy highways prevented the escape of many who would have fled.

The raid followed by three days the appointment of Pike M. McIntosh, former Texas ranger and chief of police at San Angelo, as Kilgore's chief of police. The town's first mayor, Malcolm Crim, former storekeeper and Presbyterian elder, was elected last week ago. One of his first acts was to select McIntosh as police chief.

One of the early gushers in this field was brought in on land owned by Crim's mother, Mrs. Lou Della Crim. The Crims became wealthy in a few weeks. The booming hamlet was but recently incorporated as a city. The Crims viewed with disfavor the hundreds of tents and hastily constructed shacks thrown together to accommodate the oil rush, making their town a frontier camp, with all the disorderly elements.

"We make Kilgore a town that isn't tough," Crim said when elected mayor.

NARY DIRIGIBLE HOME AFTER WAR MANEUVERS

Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes

Month after month some women still suffer needless pain, but those who know simply go to a drug store or soap front, get a package or dose of "B.C." and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.

"B.C." is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

"B.C." stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows.—(adv.)

Don't neglect your child's COUGH or COLD

TRY this milder "counter-irritant." Good old Musterole now made milder for babies and small children. So pleasant to use and so reliable—apply Children's Musterole freely to the affected area once every hour for five hours.

That's the safe, sure treatment that millions of mothers and leading doctors and nurses recognize and endorse. Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

That's why this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Keep full strength Musterole on hand for adults and Children's Musterole for the little tots.

Why Some People Grow TOO FAT And how modern doctors, the world over, now correct the cause Millions enjoy the results

The RIGHT, The RAPID WAY

A few years ago, countless people in their prime were over-fat. That excess fat was a blight to beauty, to vitality and health. It shortened lives, and robbed the few years of joy.

The general idea was that the victims are too much and exercised too little. So there was little sympathy for these abnormal figures.

Then medical science discovered a cause—a great cause—in a defective gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. The lack lets the food go to fat.

The whole medical world then gained a new conception in the treatment of obesity. Modern doctors of all nations, since then, have been feeding what that gland failed to supply.

The Amazing Results

Now you see the results in every circle. Excess fat has been fast disappearing. Not by starvation, not by abnormal exercise or diet. But by feeding the system what that gland fails to feed.

You see the results all about you. Perhaps your own friends talk about them.

They exhibit their new charms, new youth and vivacity, as evidence of what this method does.

An Ever-Ready Way

Marmola prescription tablets present this modern method in ideal form. They are compounded by a world-famous medical laboratory, to fit the average case. Not too rapid, not too slow.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. It has been a major factor in the happier conditions of life. It is economical, easy to obtain and use. It offers the right help, the quick and real help at its best. The formula is in every box, so your own doctor may confirm this, if you wish.

Now Fakes Are Few

Not long ago, there were many fake helms for excess fat. They are now either gone or going. But the use of Marmola has grown and grown, and extended to foreign countries.

Now most of the over-fat consult their doctors or use Marmola. In either way, they combat the cause. In a few years more, abnormal figures will be rare indeed.

Try Marmola—do it now. Read the book in the box, to know what to expect and why. Watch how new vitality returns with each pound of reduction. Then please tell others about it, as friendly advice, as others will gladly tell you.

Why wait a day?

Miss Blackwell Wins in Short Story Contest

At the Monday morning chapel service at Washington Seminary winners were announced for the short story contest, which has aroused lively competition among the young writers for the past few weeks. Miss Mary Blackwell, a member of the senior class and also president of the exclusive Colony Club of Atlanta, won first place with her story, "A Belle of Old Broadway."

This was published in the Misses magazine, the senior magazine, in the issue given out yesterday morning. Miss Clara Adams received honorable mention in this contest, her story being entitled, "Ellen Takes a Holiday."

Miss Blackwell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Earl Blackwell, is vice president of the O. B. X. Club, and is one of the most popular and attractive members of the college set.

Recently the members were elected to the senior round table, an honor for which the six most representative seniors are chosen each year. However, this year because of two ties eight members were selected as follows: Misses Mary Blackwell, Elizabeth Camp, Virginia Dillon, Judy King, Julie McClatchey, Emily Matthews, Emily Plummer, Mary Wyatt Scott.

'No Woman of 60 Should Look Over 35,' Says Beauty Exponent

BY ANNIE LOU HARDY.

"No woman who is 60 years old should look more than 35," said Mlle. Rubenstein, noted beauty exponent, as she chatted informally at the luncheon given yesterday in her honor by Miss Iris Lee, of the Davidson-Paxon Company, which has Mlle. Rubenstein as its guest this week.

Rubenstein as a special blessing to Atlanta women, bringing to them the secret of keeping and making the most of their youth and beauty.

To be beautiful is not merely a fairy godmother's gift. It is an art, and its practices are the highest form of artistic expression. No one is more capable of giving advice on this absorbing topic than Mlle. Rubenstein, for as a background for her years of intensive study of the art, she has had a thorough course in medicine. "Buying rouge and powder without the proper treatment of the skin and body as a foundation," she says, "is like buying beautiful furniture without a roof under which to put it."

Convincing Proof.

One glance at this charming connoisseur of the art of beauty, and it is obvious that she is convincing proof that her principles are the correct ones. Of the exotic, Castilian type, her olive skin is as fresh as a debutante's, her dark eyes are bright and laughing, and she moves with exceeding grace and poise. When she expertly explained the subtle and imperceptible stages by which beauty and attractiveness are developed, one found it difficult to discredit even the myth of eternal youth.

Mlle. Rubenstein advocates particular attention to the development of one's type, and explains that a woman should select the colors that heighten the tones of her skin, her hair and her eyes. She should sense the styles and the lines that help to express her individuality, and wear the makeup that is suitable to her coloring and that brings out her best points. For it is the ensemble that counts, and not one's individual features.

"Air has a tremendous effect on life," says Mlle. Rubenstein, who is a strict believer in diet and outdoor exercises to keep beautiful.

Beauty comes from within, according to this world-famous expert, and the woman has not been born who cannot, by the right practice and the right directions, be made beautiful and attractive. Neither does she have to spend hours in luxurious salons, taking expensive beauty treatments. Results depend largely on the faithfulness and the intelligence with which she daily follows the simple, scientific rules which she will explain fully in an open house lecture this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Davidson-Paxon Company tea room.

"But it is not the face alone that reflects permanent youthfulness. Keep the mind alive and you cannot grow old" was a parting injunction from this modern exponent of culture, as well as beauty.

RICH'S

This morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. O. Grove, Habersham road, a Junior League Scribblers Club will be organized. This club will be a development of a Junior League Short Story class which was conducted by Mrs. Jacques Futrelle. Mrs. Futrelle has very kindly offered to assist in the formation of a Scribblers Club. A number of Junior League members have signified their interest in such a club, including Mrs. Grove, Mrs. Greene Plant, Mrs. Winfrey Ramsey, Mrs. Preston Stevens, Mrs. Turner Jones, Mrs. Reginald Fleet, Mrs. Lawrence Willet and Mrs. Trimble Johnson. Any members of the league who wish to join the Scribblers Club may come to Mrs. Grove's at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Junior League of Atlanta will meet this afternoon, Tuesday, March 3, at 3 o'clock in the ballroom of the Piedmont Driving Club. Mrs. Clark Howell, president, will preside. The complete report of the Bobby Jones golf match will be given by Mrs. John Knox, the chairman for the golf match. The committee chairmen will make their reports. Mrs. Howell will present to the members a number of proposals for Junior League sponsorship.

The March number of the Junior League Magazine was an "Education" number. Mrs. Lawrence Willet, the city editor for Atlanta, contributed an article on Miss Martha Berry and Berry schools. This article was particularly timely and interesting, as Miss Berry has recently been selected in a Good Housekeeping Magazine vote as one of the 12 greatest living women. Another article from Atlanta was "While Dollars for Education," a study of negro educational opportunities and the aid given to negro education by "white dollars" in the south. "Hermione the Walker Stevens" work was well represented, five of her drawings appearing in this issue. Julia Willet wrote a review of "Lafayette, the Pirate," by Lyle Saxon, which gave due tribute to Mr. Saxon's fascinating work.

The March Junior League Magazine has many interesting articles well worth the time required for reading. The article on Bertrand Russell's Beacon Hill school, one of the most interesting educational developments of the day, is of outstanding interest. Last year the education number was completely devoid of illustrations and photographs but this year they have been used to lighten this serious subject.

The editors of the magazine presented in this issue a "Dinner Party Competition." "Supposing your bookshelf came to life and you were able to invite six characters from American fiction to dine with you, which six would make the most interesting party and with what topic of interest to them all would you open the conversation?" The editors offer a prize of $25 for the most interesting suggestions. The competition will close on March 30.

The April number will be devoted to "Art and Architecture." May will present "Country Life," which may include everything from sports to gardens. Material for the May issue should be sent to Mrs. Lawrence Willet by the 24th of March.

Musical Honors Prof. Boris Duner

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hoffman entertained a group of intimate friends Sunday evening at their home, 1575 Piedmont road, in honor of Professor Boris Duner, a Russian pianist of renown. The event took the form of an impromptu musicale at which a few invited guests, including the honor guest, contributed their talent. The highlight of this musicale was a few selections on the piano played by Miss Margaret Taylor, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Taylor.

Mrs. Benjamin Brodie, a finished musician and formerly of Boston, delighted the gathering with her original conception of Beethoven's "Sonata Pathétique." "Cradle Song," written by Borelli, was played by Mrs. Fannie Feldman, which was followed by the hostess' vocal number. Mrs. Hoffman, who is known to the radio listeners through her frequent broadcasts, sang "Th. Habanera" from Bizet's "Carmen." Mrs. Hoffman's soprano was effectively supported by Mrs. Brodie's accompaniment on the piano. Professor Duner's masterful presentations of Tchaikovsky's "Autumn," Mendelssohn's "Venetian Boat Song" and Rubinstein's "Oriental Fantasy" closed the program.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. I. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hankin, Mr. and Mrs. I. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. Fannie Feldman, Senia Solomonoff, Lewis Rudin, Harry Rudin, A. Israels, Joseph A. Lowinson, Misses Rose Goldstein, Sarah Ungar and Margaret Taylor.

A word about THE NISLEY IDEA

Most of the women you meet in Nisley stores have always paid a great deal more for their footwear. They've discovered that these are in no sense "55 shoes." In fact, it is only because we make all our own shoes in our own plants and do this work on such a vast scale (to supply our more than fifty Nisley stores) that we can afford the softer, finer leathers and more shapely lasts. For these reasons, too, Nisley Shoes stay new longer; keep their sleek look.

WHAT BUSTER THOUGHT AND DID.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When for departure there is need
There's nothing like a little speed.
—Buster Bear.

When, under the big brush pile in the Green Forest, Buster Bear was awakened by the barking of Flip the Terrier he was first in a bad temper, as many folks are when suddenly aroused from sleep. He was wide awake almost at once, and he knew right away that that dog had found his hiding place and knew he was there. He knew by the barking that it was a small dog that was making all that noise, and he wasn't afraid of a small dog. For that matter, he wasn't afraid of any dog. Of course not. He was simply annoyed and angry. Then he heard the voice of Farmer Brown's Boy and fear took the place of anger. He didn't know it was Farmer Brown's Boy. All he knew was that one of those two-legged creatures that he had long ago learned were the only ones for whom he need have either respect or fear had found his retreat, and instantly fear took possession of him.

Now a Bear, even such a big Bear as was Buster, can travel surprise.

ingly fast when he is in a real hurry, and Buster was in a real hurry. He crashed through brush and bumped into trees and didn't even know it. He just kept on going. Where he was going he didn't know, save that he was going to get away from that part of the Green Forest and waste no time in doing it. He crashed into a thicket where Lightfoot the Deer had been taking a nap. Lightfoot had just bounded to his feet when Buster came crashing in. Lightfoot plunged wildly out and away, quite as frightened as was Buster Bear, and the noise he made added to Buster's fright. He tried to run faster.

From almost under his nose Thunder the Grouse whirled away with a noise of stout wings that in his panicky state seemed to Buster like the roar of a terrible gun, and he fairly whimpered aloud. He ran until he couldn't run any longer. You see, he wasn't in good condition for running. He had been asleep so long that his muscles were soft, and he was soon out of wind. He had to stop. That was all there was to it—he had to stop. He just had to.

"I guess I'm safe," he muttered. "Mr. that was a narrow escape."

And this, if you think it over, was rather funny, for it is precisely what Flip the Terrier, was thinking, and what for a few minutes Farmer Brown's Boy had thought as he sprawled in the snow when really there had been no narrow escape at all, for no one had intended any harm to any one else.

MYSTERY ATTACK MAY COST MAN LIFE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—(AP)—Corley Burns, 27, employee of the Arkansas Power and Light Company at West Memphis, Ark., victim of a mysterious attack on a highway near Hughes, Ark., last night, was brought to a Memphis hospital today with wounds in his head and side which attending physicians fear may prove fatal.

Mrs. Burns, who accompanied the wounded man to Memphis, said Burns was shot by two men who drove alongside the automobile in which they were riding, forced Burns to alight, fired several shots and drove away.

TALKING IT OVER

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Honest Criticism Is an Effort to Get at the Kernel of Truth by Tearing Away the Concealing Husks—When a Husband's Tricks Are All Fireside Tricks, You Can't Afford to Take Them From Him.

The critical attitude of mind and speech is such an easy one that unless we are very careful we fall into it unconsciously. It implies a sort of superiority that we like to assume. To be a critic one must be learned, whether the criticism is of books, or people, or pictures. To be a critic one must have taste and discrimination. To be a critic one must have a public and we all like to feel the pulse of a public.

We are hearing a great deal these days about the "de-bunking" tendency of our time. The writers have found it pleasant and profitable and in the process they have set themselves up as researchers and students of history. There is a great hue and cry about the damage they are doing to the young minds in holding up the heroes to the ridicule and scorn of a generation which is noted for its irreverence. I can't see how it makes any difference. These writers are so evidently more concerned with rendering themselves famous than with rendering their heroes infamous, that they give the anti-dote along with the poison.

Real honest criticism is an effort to tear away the husks that conceal the kernel of truth. The person concerned with knowing the truth recognizes the success or failure of this effort just as the squirrel knows when he has or has not reached the kernel of the nut. He is not fooled by having a big pile of husks. Truth in character, or in literature, or in painting is the kernel and no matter how big a pile of husks the critics of these subjects may heap up, we who live in, and know these realms will not be deceived.

It is not hard to pick flaws in a person's conduct. We are constantly doing it with our friends and our foes but the rock bottom of character are not affected by these criticisms. If they are just and fair we get the credit for being discriminating and are counted clever. But if they are unjust and unfair we are known for the censorious hypocritical carpers that we are. In any case, the character of the person criticized is not touched. It remains as it was, always a little better and brighter than the conduct which men see.

George Washington's truthfulness is not impaired by the statement that he was a liar. Thousands of children have been taught the ideal by means of the little cherry tree. Queen Victoria's long and useful reign is not rendered sterile by the statement that she was stupid. Her sturdy qualities have been translated into English life and no amount of criticism will qualify the fact.

In other words, if we are learned and clever enough to get away with criticisms of things and people that will heighten our fame, it is all right to pursue the course. We don't change the values of the things or the people we criticize. If we are not clever and learned in the art, we had better leave it to those who are, for we only make ourselves a laughing stock.

CAROLINA CHATFIELD.

MY DEAR MISS CHATFIELD—

I have a husband whom I love and of whom I am proud. He is a substantial citizen and an ideal husband. I have one complaint to make of him and I suppose I should be ashamed to give voice to that one. He has no outside interests and when he shuts the door on his work he expects me to furnish the entertainment for the rest of the day or the week, as the case may be. I have a large circle, to whom I owe a duty as well as to him, and in addition, a large family which lives in the same city with me. For years I tried to spend all my spare moments with my husband and let the world go by but I have got to the stage in life where I realize if I don't change my way of doing I will have no friends left. My husband wants to come home and find me there. He wants to stay at home and keep me there. He isn't interested in anything but his business and me. What can I do to solve the problem?

STRANGLER WIFE.

ANSWER:
Be thankful that you have a husband who wants to stay at home, and stay with him whenever he wants you. You have all the daytime in which to see your family and your friends. It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks and when his old ones are fire-side tricks you have a lot to be thankful for. Where one woman finds herself in your fix a hundred are wishing they could reverse their situation to be like yours.

There is one class of women who never know how well off they are. It is the class to which you belong. If you had had a taste of having to fight to get, and to hold, your husband's interest you would not regard it so lightly. Golf, and cards, and whisky widows are famed in song and story. Go out and talk to some of them and then come home and beg your husband's pardon.

MILLICAN MAKES PLEA FOR PLAYGROUND FUND

Declaring that Atlanta is spending only from one-fifth to one-tenth as much each year in operation of playgrounds as other cities of Atlanta's class and population, Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman of the parks committee of council, Monday afternoon petitioned council for $2,500 additional for playgrounds, pushing the total contemplated expenditure for this purpose to $10,000 for 1931.

Council referred the measure at his request to the finance committee of council for a recommendation.

Mr. Millican succeeded in having passed a councilmanic resolution preventing the parks committee of council from letting concession rights for a period of more than two years. If a longer lease of such rights is desired in the future, it will be necessary to appeal to council for such authority.

WRECKED LOCOMOTIVE REMOVED FROM RIVER

MOBILE, Ala., March 2.—(AP)—The last vestige of the wreck of the north-bound Pan-American L. & N. train, the locomotive and combination baggage car and club coach, which went down in 40 feet of water in Mobile river after plunging through an open draw, was removed today, the tender of the engine. The L. & N. divers expected to find the body of Zeke Crumpton, negro fireman of the locomotive, buried in the tender but no trace of it was found. The coach, engine and tender were brought to Mobile on barges and several thousand people viewed the wrecked railroad equipment. The locomotive was badly damaged.

mix a salad dressing appropriate to the salad

FOR GREENS

Simple greens served between the meat course and dessert at dinner, respond most readily to a tart dressing such as French Dressing, Bachelor Club or Vinaigrette Dressing.

FOR FRUIT

Fruits, fresh or canned, with a more pronounced flavor than the simple greens, call for a dressing less sharp. With perhaps a dash of sweetness or the tang of cheese, or the richness of nuts to encourage the fruits to give us back their sunshine and full fresh flavor. Fruit Dressing, Cheese Dressing, Nut Dressing or Bar-le-Duc Dressing.

SEAFOODS

If your salad is to be the main part of the meal, for luncheon let us say, and boasts of the full flavors of lobster, crabmeat or shrimp, marinate first and just before serving add Lemonade.

VINAIGRETTE DRESSING . . .

One teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of pepper, a little paprika, six tablespoons of Wesson Oil and two tablespoons of vinegar. Beat with a fork until thoroughly blended. Stir in a small sour pickle, chopped fine, and a teaspoon of chopped parsley.

BAR-LE-DUC DRESSING . .

One teaspoon of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper, six tablespoons of Wesson Oil, two tablespoons of lemon juice and six tablespoons of a jelly that is not too firm . . . such as Bar-le-Duc. Beat the mixture with a fork until thoroughly blended.

TO MARINATE

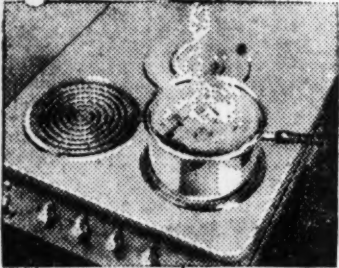

Mix six tablespoons Wesson Oil and two tablespoons of vinegar. Add a teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. Pour this over seafood and set aside in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with Lemonade Dressing.

SO MANY different foods, under the guiding hand of the clever cook, come to the table as salad. Each one has its own flavor, and there is a right dressing for each kind of salad. If you are interested we'll send you a book, "Appropriate Salad Dressings," that shows more ways to fix salads, new dressings, and new ways to serve them; address Wesson Oil & Snowdrift People, New Orleans, La.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a few minutes to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germy mucus phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

King, Queen Cotton Make Merry As Carnival Opens in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—(AP)—A king who would keep his throne came to Memphis today to bless a three-day carnival of fun and fancy, with the practical aim of making cotton a paying crop again.

Resplendent in costumes of the old south, King and Queen Cotton led a glittering court of princes and princesses from the gangplank of a Mississippi river steamboat. Some 7,000 spectators shivered in cold winds as the rulers mounted their cotton-bale thrones.

Once the keys of the city were theirs, they turned to a style review staged by members of the Junior League to prove that cotton can be cloth of royal stuff.

Across the stage of cotton bales, young women marched in all-cotton costumes. Below the park where they gave their show lay the Mississippi river water front where once cotton was piled by the thousands of bales to await a legion of packers.

The cotton is still here by thousands, but it's in warehouses to await barges. The whole point of the carnival is that there is too much cotton and too little consumption. The Chamber of Commerce, the Memphis Cotton Exchange and other organizations promoting it would demonstrate that new and improved uses for the staple may be one solution of low prices and overproduction.

After the style show tug boats raced down the river to close the daylight program. Tonight there were dinners and dances, as there will be tomorrow and Wednesday night.

One of the aims is to provide for Memphis a counterpart of New Orleans Mardi Gras. Tomorrow afternoon schools will be given over to masked street dances between lamp posts wrapped in cotton and long lines of bales.

CRIME IN 1,000 CITIES DROPPED IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—A general decrease in crime in 1,000 cities during January as compared with December was reported Sunday by the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

was given as 1,824 for December and 1,712 in January. The number of murders reported daily decreased from an average of slightly more than eight to slightly less than eight, while the daily average of cases of manslaughter by negligence dropped from less than seven to less than five.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—The $37,770 senate appropriation in the deficiency bill for improving the Missionary Ridge Crest road and the Crest and Gap road in the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Parks, Tennessee, was accepted today by the house.

HIGHEST COURT TO PASS ON HOOVER OIL POLICY

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(P)—President Hoover's oil conservation policy closing public oil and gas lands to prospecting, will be reviewed by the supreme court.

Four cases assailing the policy, supported by the states of New Mexico, Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Colorado, will be considered on their merits by the highest court.

The oil policy was made effective under an order by Secretary Wilbur in March, 1929.

It was contended that the president had set aside an act of congress, and Secretary Wilbur's order was attacked on the ground that the president had issued no formal proclamation.

The five states complained that the effect of the closing of public lands to oil prospecting would materially lower their revenues, by depriving them of a fruitful source of taxation.

Pensacola Thugs Get Safe Containing $360

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 2.—(P)—Robbers entered the Pensacola Linen Supply Company yesterday and carted off a safe containing $360. No trace of the strong box has been found.

A small amount of cash was taken when thieves also took a safe from another place of business. The safe was located two blocks away.

VALDOSTA THEATER

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 2.—Announcement was made this afternoon of the sale of the Ritz theater property by William West to M. R. Ouseley and his wife, Mrs. Annie L. Ouseley, the consideration being approximately $100,000.

The property is one of the most complete theaters in south Georgia. It was erected about eight years ago by the Taylor West Company, to which Mr. West succeeded some time ago.

The theater is leased to the Valdosta Amusement Company, which is operated by the Gortatowsky interests of Albany.

MATERNITY AID BILL SOON WILL BE LAW

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(P)—The conference report on the Jones-Cooper bill to provide federal aid for maternity, infancy and rural health work was adopted today by the house. It went to the senate for final congressional action.

Under the measure, the public health service would administer federal aid in country health programs, with authorizations for annual appropriations increasing from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 over a period of five years.

The children's bureau would supervise maternity and infancy work with authorization for a $1,000,000 a year appropriation for co-operation with states on a dollar matching basis such as the expired Sheppard-Towner act provided.

A federal health co-ordination board would have general direction of the program.

CHEVROLET SALES POLICY OUTLINED

Plans and policies of the Chevrolet Motor Company for the coming year were outlined at a meeting of the retail salesmen from over the Atlanta zone here Monday. The salesmen were first guests of the company at luncheon at the Biltmore hotel, following which they went to the Biltmore theater for the business session. Demonstrations were given showing correct selling procedure, utilizing stage scenes, playlets, talking pictures and special lighting effects. In charge of the meeting were: L. S. Costley, regional manager; R. W. Peek, zone manager, and W. E. Holler, assistant general sales manager, of Detroit.

SCHOOL GIRL'S DEATH DECLARED HOMICIDE

DETROIT, March 2.—(P)—The case of a 15-year-old high school girl who was found unconscious at the side of the pavement at an East Side intersection Friday was described today by police as a homicide.

The girl, Anna Gabriel, died yesterday afternoon shortly after an X-ray showed that her skull was fractured in such a manner as to indicate that she could not have been the victim of a hit-and-run driver, as police at first thought.

Two youths were detained in connection with the investigation, police announced.

Third Man To Seek Chicago Mayor's Job

CHICAGO, March 2.—(P)—An organization named "The Citizens Committee for Drafting Herman N. Bundesen for Mayor" announced today that Dr. Bundesen, Cook county coroner and democratic leader, had agreed to run for mayor of Chicago in the April election.

The possibility that Dr. Bundesen would run as an independent against Mayor William Hale Thompson, the republican nominee, and Anton J. Cermak, democrat, has been the principal topic of political discussion since the primaries last Tuesday.

The day after the primaries, a tentative announcement of his candidacy was made, but Dr. Bundesen said he had not definitely decided. Today he could not be reached for a statement concerning the committee's action.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

Carol had come in just before him. "Oh, you're here, are you?" she said. "Martha's awake. I just looked in, and she called to me. She's a little hazy still, I think, but she says she wants to see you. You'd better wait a minute—I'll call you."

The sight of Martha, when he went into her room, nearly broke his heart. He'd never seen her in bed before, naturally, and neither had he ever seen her looking quite the way she did now. Tears came into her eyes when she saw him, and he'd never seen her cry before, except in anger. She reached out her hand as he sat down, beside her, and clung to his.

"It's all right, Martha," he said. "It's all right—it's going to be all right. They said, 'I'm not frightened any more, Peter,' she said, 'I mean—well, I am, but it doesn't matter. Whatever happens to me, I'll deserve it. I'm thinking of Tack. Poor old Tack. It's my fault, Peter—it's all my fault.'"

"Don't talk that way," he said. "How could it be your fault?" "I—I'm not quite sure, just how," she said, slowly. "I've got to think, and I can't seem to, very well. Only I do know that I know that if it hadn't been for me, tearing things to pieces to get what I wanted, it would not have happened. You see—there are lots of things you don't know, Peter, and I've got to tell you, now. Peter—tell me what's happened since—since I came here."

"You must," she said. Never, in her most capricious, her most tyrannical moods, had her voice been as compelling as it was now in this moment of a tenderness he had never quite known she had in her to display. He'd always known that she could feel it; not that she would ever let it appear.

"You must, Peter dear. I've no one else to help me, no one else I can depend on. You must tell me everything you know."

He looked at her, and knew that she was right. And so, very quietly, slowly, so that he might be sure he was leaving nothing out, he told her about Charley Mitchell, and about what Connolly thought, and what the lawyers had said, and about the way Ross had vanished.

She caught her breath, sharply, at that, and her hand tightened over him. "I don't believe he knew about Tack," she said. "I think he had some other reason for going off that way."

Peter started. He'd never thought of that. Ever since lunch he'd been accepting Ross' disappearance as the equivalent of a confession. But Martha might be right, of course. For a thousand reasons he might want to believe that Ross had had any hand in part in Tack's death.

"Is that all, Peter? All you know?" asked Martha. "Yes," he said. "Martha, you can see why I had to tell things you'd told me, can't you? I couldn't help myself."

There was a knock at the door, and Carol came in, quietly. "Inspector Connolly's here," she said. "He's insisting on seeing Martha. I've told him he can't, and I've called up Jimmy Watson. He's coming right over. I called Steve, too, and just caught him, and he's going to get hold of Arthur Bouton, and bring him along. You go out and see Connolly, Peter."

Connolly was in the living room. He looked curiously, unaccountably, triumphant.

"Good evening to you, Mr. Wayne," he said. "It's sorry I am to be troubling your sister this way. But it's important. You'll have heard that Ross disappeared?"

"Yes," said Peter. "But I can assure you that no one here knows where he is—Mrs. Thayer least of all."

"I believe you," said Connolly. "But I do. He's in the captain's office in the East 51st Street police station, and he's just finished making a statement to Mr. Barclay and me."

"A statement?" Peter cried. "Do you mean a confession?"

"Well, call it a statement—for the minute," said Connolly. "Whatever he may have said—and you'll understand, Mr. Wayne, that in a business like this I can't always talk as freely as I'd like to—it's important for me to see Mrs. Thayer at once. You'll be well advised to do what you can to arrange that."

There couldn't be any doubt now of the threatening quality of the Irishman's voice. He was still suave and polite, but he talked, for the first time, like a man whose doubts had been resolved, who was completely the master of the situation in which he found himself.

"But I can't do anything," said Peter. "Mrs. Thayer is being kept quiet by the doctor's orders. He gave her an opiate of some sort this morning, and there hasn't been time, I imagine, for it to wear off. My sister explained that to you, didn't she?"

Connolly nodded. His eyes fixed themselves on Peter in a direct and compelling stare.

"I understand all that," he said. "Mr. Wayne—I know more than I'm saying, maybe. I'm sorry for you. You're in a difficult situation. I'd like to help you. I'd like to help Mrs. Thayer. But—I must see her."

The doorbell rang just then. Peter and Connolly both turned, at the sound, and a moment later Jimmy Watson walked in.

"Here's Dr. Watson now, Inspector," said Peter, and introduced the two men. "You'd better talk to the doctor."

Jimmy Watson listened to Connolly's explanation of his need to see Martha. Then he shook his head.

"I can't allow that, I'm afraid," he said. "If you'll wait a moment I'll take a look at her."

Connolly, reluctant, but oppressed a little, in spite of himself, by the authority of a doctor who was among the leaders of the profession, agreed to that. Peter was beginning to understand what had made Connolly hold his hand so far. The police, of course, didn't very often come into contact, in their work, with people of the sort who appeared at every turn in this case: people of wealth, of social and financial importance, people with far-reaching connections that might, for all Connolly knew, extend to the mysterious political potentate upon whom not only his future but his tenure of his present extremely desirable post depended.

And Jimmy Watson, by chance, was dressed for the part he was playing, in a cutaway coat and trousers that even Peter had noticed with a certain admiring envy. He had been a speaker, Peter learned later, at some medical congress during the afternoon. He came back, after a few minutes, during which Peter and Connolly hadn't exchanged a word.

"It's as I thought," he said. "Mrs. Thayer is asleep, and I will not assume the responsibility of allowing her to be awakened. Her sleep isn't normal, you understand, Inspector, but one induced by drugs; even if she were aroused, she would be quite incapable of talking to you rationally, or understanding any questions you asked her."

"I'd like to decide that for myself, doctor," said Connolly, obstinately. "I've got authority."

"Authority? He damned!" said Jimmy Watson. "I'm dealing with medical facts, Inspector, and there my authority is greater than yours. I'll guarantee that Mrs. Thayer will wake up tomorrow morning in full possession of all her faculties. You'll have to wait until then, and that's all there is to it."

Deadly as he felt this game was, high though he knew its stakes to be, Peter couldn't help enjoying the spectacle of Connolly, with all the weight and power of the law and 15,000 policemen behind him, being put in his place by Jimmy Watson.

For the moment it seemed to be stalemate; Watson was the one now who was suave and unbothered; Connolly was flushed and angry. And again, in the critical moment, there was an interruption—caused, this time, by the arrival of Steve Wentworth and Arthur Bouton.

Bouton nodded, with a certain concession, to Connolly—who had, Peter knew, taken orders from the lawyer more than once in the past.

ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 3, 1934.

Stegeman Retires as Basketball Coach at University of Georgia KENTUCKY, MARYLAND IN FINALS TONIGHT

For the eleventh consecutive year the scene is set and the actors selected for the final smashing act of the big basketball melodrama at the city auditorium.

It was in 1921—the night of Tuesday, March 1, to be exact—that Georgia and Kentucky squared off in the first tournament finals. It became the most sensational game imaginable. For sheer excitement, prolonged suspense, and close scoring that game never has been equaled in the subsequent history of the collegiate tournament.

Another Kentucky team has landed in the finals this year, but instead of Georgia, it is Maryland that will furnish the opposition. Maryland is by one thing point after a harum scarum 26-25 game last night.

NIP AND TUCK ALL THE WAY.

That night Kentucky and Georgia played before a crowd that jammed the hall to the rafters. H. J. Stegeman was sitting on the Bulldog bench pale faced, tense. It was the second team he had coached at Georgia and it was a marvelously coordinated quintet. George Bucheit, looking as young as any one of his players, was handling the Bluegrass five; his boys were lean and trim and very fast.

It was a game of close guarding and, perhaps, poor shooting. The half ended with Kentucky leading 8 to 7, I believe. Neither side could get set for easy shots.

They swept into the second half, with Anderson scoring occasionally for Georgia and King keeping Kentucky on even terms. Never more than a few points apart the watch had less than a minute to run and Georgia was leading 19 to 17.

IN THE LAST MINUTE.

Hayden, the star Kentucky forward, had been blanketed all night under Stegeman's orders and he had caged a lone field goal. But suddenly Hayden eluded his leech-like guard and raced for the basket. One of his pals fed him the ball on a high pass. Hayden pushed it into the hoop in the same motion he used to receive the ball and the score was tied 19-19.

Forty-five seconds to play. The crowd was raving. The players were haggard and wild-eyed. Adkins, the Kentucky center, got the tip; Lavin, the sawed-off guard, took the ball out of the air and after dribbling a few times shot it to Adkins, who had moved fast "into the hole." As Adkins started to shoot, a Georgia guard charged into him. The referee called a foul.

By the rules then any player could make the point try after a foul. Little King was selected for the shot.

As he flexed his arms for the cast, the pistol of the timer boomed. It must have sounded to him like the report of a 16-inch gun. He relaxed, and looked questioningly at the referee. He wondered for a moment whether he would be allowed to shoot or not. The referee nodded.

The kid laid the ball on the floor and wiped his hands on the boards. He looked frail and pitiful there with the game on his shoulders. If he missed an extra period would be necessary; if he hit, it meant a championship.

THE BIGGEST EXPLOIT.

I always have imagined that little King's performance then of gathering himself together and shooting that free throw was the greatest exploit I ever saw in sport. The pressure on him was diabolical.

As the ball rolled through the hoop, there was an instant of silence in the auditorium. Then broke the roar of loosened nervous tension and the wild rush to the floor to commiserate with the weeping losers and congratulate the dazed, laughing winners.

That finish has stood up through ten years of campaigning on the auditorium floor as the greatest championship finish of all. The names of the men who participated in it—Georgia: Rawson, Anderson, Bennett, Cheeves, Murray and Owens; Kentucky: Hayden, King, Adkins, Lavin and Ridgeway—mean little to the young men of this generation of basketball fans.

But no matter what the final game may produce tonight it cannot make old-timers forget that first climax.

THE HEIGHT OF UNCERTAINTY.

Jimmy Maloney has been promised a bout with Max Schmeling if he defeats Primo Carnera Wednesday night and if Schmeling whips Young Stribling in June.

Which is a new version of the old wheeze: "If we had some ham, we'd have a ham sandwich, if he had a bun."

MARINES START EARLY.

Those Mobile Marines, nee Bears, formerly Gulls, have broken away to a flying start in their spring training, leading most other Southern Association clubs by a week.

Byrd Douglas, the angel from Nashville, who bought the club, not only has started training early but has accumulated, one way and another, a pretty fair sort of team. Furthermore he has the promise of help from the more prosperous brethren in the league.

It would be a grand thing if the Marines could get the situation well in hand and collect a few victories out of the first 25 games. It might put Mobile back on the baseball map.

PA POSTPONES DEBUT HERE.

Pa Stribling advises from Miami that his plans for bringing Mickey Walker, the Toy Bulldog, into Atlanta for a fight March 9 had to be dropped.

Pa tried to find a suitable heavyweight for Mickey to fight, but could get nothing but the round-beel variety to agree to get in there with the little wild man.

The elder Stribling wants to promote a few good bouts in Atlanta this season, but has no idea of starting off with a sorry show. Hence the postponement of his opening.

SPACE WINS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 2.—(UP) Julian Space, Augusta, won the qualifying medal today in play for the country club golf title. Alfred S. Bourne, New York; Fielding Wallace, Augusta; and Frank Mulherin, Augusta, were tied for second place with 80.

FOREDA WINS DECISION.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 2.—(AP)—Stanley Foreda, Jersey heavyweight, easily outpointed Herman Heller, of Germany, sparring partner of Max Schmeling, in a 10-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Foreda weighed 200; Heller 196.

STEGEMAN QUILTS HIS BASKETBALL COACHING POST

Will Devote Time to Job as Athletic Director at Georgia.

By Ralph McGill.

Herman J. Stegeman, Georgia's athletic director and basketball coach, will drop the latter title after the completion of the Southern conference tournament now in progress at the auditorium.

He will remain as athletic director. Rex Enright, lately brought to Georgia from North Carolina as assistant football coach, will become basketball coach.

ANNOUNCES.

Stegeman announced his retirement early in the evening, some time before the game which saw his team lose a heart-breaking struggle to the Maryland Old Liners. His teams, while they have never won a championship, have probably the best tournament record of any other team in the conference. The Bulldogs have been consistently in the second round and semi-finals. Stegeman had hoped to retire with a championship team.

"My duties as athletic director keep me pretty busy," said Stegeman, in making the announcement Monday night, "and so I am retiring from basketball. I will serve as track coach, in addition to being athletic director, but will not again be connected with the basketball coaching job."

A SURPRISE.

Stegeman's retirement comes as a surprise to his friends, despite the fact that it was known that he was occupied as athletic director. His teams have been uniformly successful, having good season records and good tournament records.

The Southern conference tournament, which concludes tonight, is something of a monument to Stegeman. It was he who suggested it, two years after he came to Georgia in 1919 to take over the position as head coach at Georgia. Stegeman was just about coach of everything Georgia athletic director.

It was in 1921 that Stegeman suggested the basketball tournament. He tried to interest Birmingham in it, but first he received no encouragement. The Atlanta Athletic Club, through Al Doonan and Coach W. A. Alexander of Tech, saw the possibilities and aided Stegeman in making it an actuality.

The tournament has grown until it now ranks as one of the finest athletic tournaments in the United States. The crowd of about 6,000 people who watched the game Monday night is just one illustration of what the tournament means to basketball and Atlanta.

Stegeman came to Georgia from the University of Chicago. He is one of the prominent members of the football rules committee and is identified with college sport in a national manner.

The university could have no wiser man at the head of its athletic system than Stegeman. He is experienced, handles men and teams well and stands for the best in college sport.

Baseball Meet Held By Y-Church Heads

Fifteen teams were represented at the first baseball meeting of the Y-Church Athletic Association held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night and of this number five were teams new to the association. One of the new members came from Newnan, Ga., widening the scope of this association into four counties.

April 11 will be the starting date for all leagues with July 4 open. A rules committee was named and advised to report at the next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Y. M. C. A. An invitation to all teams desiring to play under this association's auspices was extended with a request that representation be made at this meeting.

The initial "baseball educational talk" will be made next week by a member of one of the professional teams. These talks will cover every phase of the national pastime and amateur players of the city will be able to improve their playing ability by attending.

Y. W. C. A. WINS.

The Y. W. C. A. defeated a crippled Davison-Paxon sextet Saturday night at the Y. W. C. A., 30 to 17, in the only game scheduled in the Blue Triangle league. The "Y" lassies displayed some keen basketball at times but for the most part, the sharp shooting of Mary Thompson, who garnered 18 points, kept the "Y" of offense moving.

There is a bare chance that the new Dixie league may have as many as 12 clubs. This, however, is doubtful. Eight is the likely number. Should 12 qualify for membership they will be operated until the weak sisters are found and the league is ready to go.

There are six strong clubs and maybe eight.

A 12-club league would be something of an innovation. The Mid-Atlantic league, which embraces many towns in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, has already formed a league of 12 clubs.

Rube Marquard is planning to get busy with the free agents who are to be found in the defunct clubs of the Sally and Southeastern.

"There are three or four boys down there who might go in this league. I am sure they would help us out at Columbus even though they fail to make the grade for Dobbs."

NEW NAMES.

Consequently the fans may expect to see some new names added to the Cracker star within the next week or so. Marquard will have plenty of time with the Crackers as the new Dixie league will be a bit late in re-

RUBE TO COACH PITCHERS HERE

Will Move to Columbus as Fox Player-Manager Later.

Richard W. (Rube) Marquard, who Monday signed to manage the Columbus club in the newly-formed Dixie association, will be present through most of March as a coach for the Atlanta pitchers.

Johnny Dobbs, the Cracker skipper, arrived Monday and he and E. J. Spiller, business manager, concluded arrangements whereby one of the best pitchers the national league had will coach the Crackers throwers.

"BIG HELP."

"I think Marquard will be quite a help this spring," said Dobbs. "He knows a lot about pitching and has had experience handling young players. With him on hand to take over the pitching while they made futile efforts to remove Collins. Then the newspapers got the story. It crashed first page all over the world. Hundreds of crows and did get entombed, but Collins and Sand Cave were in the 48-point headlines to stay."

It so happened that your reporter among the 40 or more newspaper correspondents who sat about the rim of the ravine and watched the state guard second place with 40 points by scoring 22 Monday. He led the day's scoring.

The cave was six miles from Cave City, where there was one hotel. It rained and froze and the shaft had slides of mud. Hot dog stands sprung up. RECORD-HOLDER.

It was in 1912, which isn't so long ago at that, that Rube set a modern record of 19 consecutive games won in major leagues. He was toiling for the Giants then.

R. J. Spiller was in a very pert mood Monday. He earned a lot of enmities at the baseball meet Sunday at Montgomery, where he was one of the leaders in the forming of the new Dixie association. In fact Rube Marquard says that had it not been for the Cracker official and his knowledge of baseball the new league might never have been formed.

Spiller was in a militant mood so far as the new league was concerned. He announced that Strang Nicklin would be put in charge of a club at Macon if the Brooklyn club really withdraws from that city. The Robins, who operated the Macon Peaches as a farm, have announced, unofficially, that they will not stick in the new league. This leaves the Macon territory open to any other league. And the Dixie will move right in.

When Shall We Three Meet Again?

Conference Official Handled Big Story

Funkhouser, of Kentucky, Was in Charge of "News" in Floyd Collins Death.

By Ralph McGill.

PROFESSOR W. D. FUNKHOUSER, who serves as a sort of contact or public relations man for the Southern conference executive committee, once served in that capacity in one of the greatest newspaper stories in modern years.

Several hundred years ago a section of a Kentucky plateau caved in near Cave City, Ky. Six years ago Floyd Collins, one of the tribe who hunt and exhibit caves for a living, crawled into a hole at one end of the ravine formed by the centuries-old cave-in.

THE folks didn't miss Floyd Collins for a couple of days. He was always sticking a couple of candles in his pocket and crawling into one of the several thousand holes in that section of Kentucky.

The fellow who could find a first-class cave nearer than Mammoth to the tourists' centers at Horse Cave and Cave City would become very rich indeed.

Floyd was used as his folks recalled that he had said something about crawling into the small entrance in the ravine. One of the neighborhood boys crawled in and found Collins caught by the foot. He was in a cave so small that he could not raise up and extricate himself. He had crawled in and was unable to reach the cave mouth or reach the stone in any way.

REAL STORY.

AND there was the story. For the first few days the natives stood around, fought with their flints and drank liquor while they made futile efforts to remove Collins. Then the newspapers got the story. It crashed first page all over the world. Hundreds of crows and did get entombed, but Collins and Sand Cave were in the 48-point headlines to stay."

PETREL COACH LIKES LEAGUE

Anderson Thinks Baseball Will Show Spurt in College Ranks.

The best thing that has happened to college baseball in the south in the last 10 years—that is what Frank Anderson, coach of the Oglethorpe baseball team, southern champions last year, calls the newly formed Dixie baseball league.

Anderson is now engaged in the rather hard business of rebuilding an entire team from the remains of last year's crack squad. Only two members of a squad of 12 are returned, Claude Herri, third baseman, and Charley Mitchell, ace pitcher.

The Petrel coach opines that the team will be 50 per cent weaker than that of last year, pointing out that in hitting, fielding and pitching the club will fall far short of the championship aggregation. He names as one of his chief tasks the building up of "team spirit and confidence."

Coaching contemporaries, busily engaged on similar lines, are not, however, placing much credence in "bear stories" issued from the Oglethorpe camp, telling about "weak, ineffective nines."

Year after year Anderson's teams are noted for their punch and head-up performances, no matter how disappointing prospects seemed before the season.

On the basis of current practice form, a tentative lineup would include Parker Bryant, first base; Frank Anderson, Jr., second base; Jack Moore, shortstop, and Herri, third base. There are four more candidates for infield positions and Munford Whitely, a likely shortstop prospect, is the other.

Outfield material also is limited, with Kid Golden, Sam Baker, Salmon and Higgins leading the pack for regular positions.

Whaley and Craven, a sophomore, comprise the catching end of the battery, while the following pitchers are regarded as the "cream of the crop": Charley Mitchell, Ace Baker, Ray Walker, Lefty Syper, Blackwell and Evans. Syper is the only southpaw of the group.

"The Dixie league fills a long felt want in college baseball," Anderson said. "It will revive interest and increase attendance at the games, and there is no question that the league could at any time increase its membership."

The compact circuit, embracing six teams, was fostered by Bill Alexander, Tech football coach, who deserves a great deal of credit, Anderson says.

The six charter members of the Dixie loop—Tech, Georgia, Florida, Auburn, Mercer and Oglethorpe—will begin play in April.

JACK GROSS WINS.

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—(AP) Jack Gross, Salem, N. J., heavyweight, pounded out a 10-round victory over Roberto Roberti, of Italy, at the arena tonight. Gross weighed 200; Roberti 227 1-2.

Scott Hog, Sigma Chi, was awarded a technical K. O. over Roger Sapp, Sigma Nu, after some fierce fighting. Harlow Barnett, Sigma Chi, and Ralph Boynton, Sigma Nu, fought three rounds to a draw in another slugging battle. Cal Weaver, the only Sigma Nu to win a bout, won a decision over Rufus Askew, Sigma Chi. All the bouts consisted of three one-and-a-half-minute rounds.

The complete results are as follows: 115-Pound Class: Bill Rawlins, Sigma Chi, won a forfeit. 125-135 Pounds: Scott Hog, Sigma Chi, won a technical K. O. over Roger Sapp, Sigma Nu. 135-145 Pounds: Ben Sharper, Sigma Chi, won a decision over Max Hall, Sigma Nu. 145-154 Pounds: Harlow Barnett, Sigma Chi, and Ralph Boynton, Sigma Nu, fought to a draw. 154-175 Pounds: Attili Black, Sigma Chi, was awarded a decision over Sidney Penny, Sigma Nu. Over 175 Pounds: Cal Weaver, Sigma Nu, won over Rufus Askew, Sigma Chi.

GEORGIA LOSES WILD SCRAMBLE TO LINERS, 26-25

Florida Beaten by Wildcats, 56-35; Finals at 8:30 O'Clock.

By Ed Danforth.

University of Maryland's husky hustlers lunged desperately past the Georgia Bulldogs last night to win a sensational 26-25 victory in one of the wildest semi-final games ever staged in the 11-year history of the Southern conference basketball tournament.

The Old Liners won the right to play the big final at the University of Kentucky tonight at 8:30 o'clock for the championship. The Kentuckians had galloped away to a 56-to-35 victory over the Georgia Bulldogs in the first game of the evening.

GREAT CROWD CHEERS.

Six thousand people jammed the auditorium to the last seat. They yelled and hurled while the blue flares were ripping the 'Gator defense to pieces. But when Maryland and Georgia missed two more close ones and mostly Georgia in sympathy and predilection, jarred tie-bolts out of the roof trusses with their hubbub.

The finish put on by the Old Liners and the Bulldogs was as mad a dash as one could hope to see. Georgia came up to the halfway mark trailing—an old Georgia custom—and Maryland went out for intermission with a 13-to-7 lead.

In both the earlier games Georgia had come from behind to win. The crowd settled back for the thriller that was bound to come.

PENALTIES COME.

Maryland had escaped official penalties in the first half to a marked degree but they began to draw the whistle as play grew faster and more headlong. Jack Norris, the Maryland center, went out on four personal fouls in the scramble and the Old Liners got excited. They missed two crisp shots in succession. Then Sanford, Moran and Young scored baskets in less than two frantic minutes to tie the score at 12-12.

Georgia fouled Runkin and he counted both his shots. Then "Catfish" Smith, the man of destiny, caged one from the edge of the court. Maryland missed two more close ones and Young pushed his Bulldogs out in front for the first time with a ringer from the foul line.

Bob Wilson, substitute, banged one on a mad dash under the hoop, but a moment later Reeder tied it at 21-21 with a free shot. Coach Shipley, of Tech, chuckled at what he thought mistakes of Referee Sutton and started out on the floor, but was restrained by men on his bench.

The excitement was communicated to the crowd and the building was a cauldron of booming noise.

Sanford, who had scored a mix-up, rushed through for a dead shot, but the ball rolled around the hoop. A moment later Smith had a free shot and made it. The smooth passing game of the Old Liners seemed broken up.

Lewis Berger finally brought order out of a chaotic situation and marshaled the scattered men. He started a play that culminated with Wilson rolling the ball in from close range. Then Berger was pushed and counted both his free throws to make the score 25-25. Chalmers was hauled in and made it 26-25. The timer had his pistol ready.

Moran fouled in a furious mix-up and counted. That made 26-25. Georgia got the next tip-off from center and Reeder, rushing in fast, was hauled. He took the foul line and coolly shot points 24 and 25. As the ball dropped through the last time the gun ended it.

It was a tough one for Georgia to lose. The Bulldogs, for 11 seasons, have literally made the tournament for you. They have never been able to win. They were finalists in 1921 and 1927. They were semi-finalists in 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1931. In 1926 and 1930 they went out in the second round. No team has shown such consistency of performance in the future. They have carried the burden but their rewards have been purely spiritual.

The Bulldogs would have given their arms and legs to win and take another shot at the championship for next year. For Herman Stegeman, their coach, who is retiring, "They played with spirit but for one evening their aim was bad and the enemy had set up too tight a defense."

Georgia shot for the net 79 times and counted but, eight field goals. That at once attests Georgia's poor aim and the smart defense that made them hurry. Georgia's percentage was .101 compared to Maryland's .205. The Old Liners took aim but 50 times and counted exactly the same as Georgia.

FROM FOUL LINE.

Maryland won the game, so to speak, from the foul line. They had 13 chances and made 10 of them good. Georgia had 15 opportunities and made 8.

Basketball League's Future Is Doubtful

Announcement was made Monday night that the basketball league of eight Southern conference teams, formed Saturday night, was unlikely to function.

Inability to form schedules was given as the reason. Roy Munderdorf, of Georgia Tech, who was the leader in forming the league, said that he had hopes of making it stick but was doubtful.

The league, while favored by some, was not in general favor. It was

BUILDERS PROTEST WIRING REGULATIONS

Protesting against drastic specifications for wiring of homes in Atlanta.

As passed arbitrarily, they claim, by Pat Hendricks, city electrician, and pointing out that the new regulations needlessly increase the cost of wiring for owners of small homes by 150 per cent, a delegation of approximately 75 Atlanta builders Monday morning laid their case before the electric committee of council in city hall.

E. A. Gilliam, councilman from the twelfth ward, as spokesman for the delegation, pointed out that the city electrician requires for small cottages electrical fittings and inlets heavy enough for a 100-room house, his only justification for this course being that in the event electric stoves, and other equipment, were installed in the cottages, the expense of installation would be much lighter on the Georgia Power Company. Atlanta is the only city that stipulates galvanized instead of black enamel fittings, the former costing 15 per cent more than the latter, Mr. Gilliam pointed out. And while a $2 switch was deemed sufficient for small houses in the past, a switch costing $10 is now specified, he added.

The committee hearing the protest of the delegation was headed by W. C. Jenkins, acting chairman. The builders are scheduled to call on Mayor Key at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the executive offices, it was announced. They maintain that building operations in the city have been greatly retarded by the new rules, which were passed, they say, without consulting either the people or the builders affected. Litigation was hinted at as a possibility by persons involved.

40 BRICK MASONS STAGE 'WALK OUT'

Claiming that officials of the Southern Ferro Concrete Company, contractors, would not compromise on a 10 per cent cut for brick masons, but insisted on a 20 per cent slash, Albert W. Gossett, secretary of the local union, Monday night announced that about 40 workers had left the employ of the concern.

The workmen were engaged on the

HURT IN ACCIDENT BOY BROUGHT HERE

George McClure, 18, of 270 Richardson street, was brought to Atlanta Monday night in an ambulance from Dallas, where he was injured in a wreck Sunday night. On being admitted to Grady hospital it was found that he was suffering from a fractured pelvis. The accident occurred on the main highway between Powder Springs and Dallas, when the car in which he was riding with John Fitts, of a Washington street address, skidded in mud and overturned. Fitts was only bruised and slightly cut.
